MACDONALD STARTS CABINET REORGANIZATION

Rumors Flying Over Civic Nominations Neville Chamberlain Is Mentioned For Exchequer As British Course Mapped

Candidates Filing Their Papers Five Weeks From To-day

Mayor Anscomb May Not Seek Re-election, in Which Case Five-cornered Contest May Develop for Position of Chief Magistrate; Three Retiring Aldermen May Not Seek Re-election; David Leeming and R. H. B. Ker Mentioned for Council Honors

With nomination day for the civic election just five weeks away to-day, speculation over possible candidates for the contest is rife in municipal circles. Only a few prospects have been actually named, but rumors are numerous about many who might run. Nomination day is December 3, with the election a week later.

With Mayor Anscomb indefinite on his plans at present, a spirited mayoralty contest looms as a probability. It is pretty certain that even if the mayor offers himself again he will be opposed, but in the event that he retires from the field a four or five-cornered contest is anticipated.

Although Alderman R. T. Williams nearly two months ago announced himself as a mayoralty candidate, he has stated nothing further and was listed among four prospective supporters of the Victoria-Ratepayers' Association which plans to enter a solid slate. Should he not receive the nomination of this organization, his plans are unknown.

OTHER POSSIBILITIES
Ex-Alderman E. S. Woodward is rumored as a possible contestant for mayoralty honors and if the present mayor chooses to retire, it is persistently stated at least two members of the present council will seek the seat. Mr. Woodward said this morning he was considering the matter, but has nothing definite to say.

The only two names mentioned so far in connection with the aldermanic election, outside of the slate proposed by the Ratepayers' Association, are those of ex-alderman R. H. B. Ker and David Leeming.

As far as the retiring members of the board are concerned, it is understood at least two do not intend to seek re-election, with the possibility that a third will not stand again. This would leave the way open for several new faces on next year's council. An extra candidate would be necessary if Alderman Williams resigns to seek the mayoralty.

INTEREST EXPECTED
Owing to economic conditions and unemployment which have affected the city as much as every other government and preface an increase in the tax rate next year, the election this December is expected to provide more interest than usual. Entry of a full slate from the Ratepayers' Association will be closely watched.

The police commission will provide a point of unusual interest after the developments which followed last year's election. Andrew McGavin is the retiring commissioner and if he seeks the office again it is likely he will have at least two opponents and probably a third.

On the school board Trustees J. L. Beckwith, Kenneth Ferguson, J. S. McMillan and V. E. Emery are the retiring members, but their plans are not yet known.

SUBSIDY SPECIAL SESSION SOON IN SOUTH AFRICA
Canadian Press Cable via Reuters' Pretoria, South Africa, Oct. 29.—The Union Government will assemble parliament in special session to sanction a general subsidy scheme involving over $10,000,000. The scheme, designed to be made retroactive to to-day, is designed to benefit the primary producers, the subsidy to be applied to all South African products with the exceptions of the gold, diamonds and sugar, to the extent of 10 per cent of the f.o.b. value.

MAKING TOUR, BUT NOT AS "VOICE OF GREAT TEACHER"

Heralded as the "Second Messiah" on his arrival on this continent several years ago, Jedu Krishnamurti, Hindu student, had renounced theosophy when, as pictured above, he landed in New York on a second visit a few days ago. He said that since growing to maturity he had "drifted away" from the idea that he was "the Voice of the Great Teacher."

YOUTH DIES AS RESULT OF GUN ACCIDENT

Jones Tells His Father They Were "Fooling" While Out Hunting

Canadian Press
New Westminster, Oct. 29.—One Burnaby youth lost his life and another is not expected to survive following a double shooting accident in Burnaby. Albert Walker, eighteen, of 2048 Kingsway, Burnaby, died to-day.

The other youth is Clifford Jones, eighteen, of 1990 Twelfth Avenue, wounded in back, pellets having penetrated his left lung.

Mystery surrounding the tragedy was partly cleared to-day when Jones regained consciousness for a few minutes and in reply to his father's questions said: "I guess we were fooling, Dad."

Two shotguns, both containing one loaded and one discharged cartridge were found near the roadside when the youths were picked up yesterday evening on Marine Drive.

Authorities believe the youths had been wrestling and the guns were accidentally discharged.

William Jones, father of the wounded boy, states the two chums were fond of wrestling and often had wrestling matches in his home.

BLOOD TRANSFUSION
When doctors announced this morning that a blood transfusion would be necessary to save Clifford Jones's life, his mother promptly responded and gave the necessary quantity of her own blood.

His father submitted to a blood test in case a further transfusion should be necessary.

It is believed the youths were wounded at 5.15 p.m. yesterday, about 800 yards from the Jewish Cemetery off Marine Drive.

AUTO TRACED IN JUDD CASE
Phoenix, Arizona, Police Looking For Car Seen at House Before Two Murdered

Associated Press
Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 29.—New evidence intended to connect the story of Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd and indicating that possibly she had an accomplice in the slaying of Miss Hedvig Samuelson and Mrs. Agnes Lerol here two weeks ago was being rounded up by Phoenix authorities to-day.

Mrs. Judd stated she shot both women the morning of October 17 as the climax of a quarrel over social affairs. She admitted placing the bodies in trunks and sending them to Los Angeles by train.

A street car motorman in Phoenix, Benjamin W. Jungmeyer, claims Mrs. Judd was a passenger on his car the night of October 16, getting off the car near the Lerol-Samuelson apartment at 10.15 o'clock and again boarding the car at 11.35 o'clock and returning to a point near her own home.

Mrs. Judd had alleged she remained at the home of her two victims the night of the slayings.

DOLLAR ON EXCHANGE IS AT 90.1-4 CENTS

YOUTH ESCAPES AS PLANE BURNS

Oakland, Calif., Oct. 29.—John Fulton, eighteen, of Vancouver, B.C., who learned to fly at the Oakland airport, escaped from an airplane crash here to-day with a sprained ankle.

The young man had forgotten to fasten his safety belt when he took off in a new plane. While he was fastening the belt, the plane crashed and caught fire. He broke his way out of the cabin. The plane was destroyed by the fire.

Disorders Spread In Northern Manchuria

Reports Tell of Three Soviet Armored Trains Operating to Crush Chinese Bandits

Canadian Press
Tokio, Oct. 29.—Shadows of the trouble generated by the controversy over the Japanese occupation of Southern Manchuria crept into the northern portion of that province to-day, threatening to develop into a serious situation there.

Disorganized Chinese soldiers who had become bandits were reported increasingly active. Vernacular newspapers here said they were endangering railroad property in which the Japanese are interested.

The Russian government, which with China jointly controls the Chinese Eastern Railway across northern Manchuria, was said by the vernacular press to have sent three armored trains with 800 troops to the vicinity of Taitshai to protect the line, but this could not be confirmed at the War Office here.

CASUALTIES REPORTED
Bandits looted several stations and small towns along the Chinese Eastern Railway in which the Japanese are financially interested. The Bengo News Agency (Japanese) said bandits yesterday evening had attacked a Japanese garrison near Kikou-shu. One Japanese officer and two men were reported killed. The Chinese losses were placed at fifty dead. Other skirmishes also were reported, in all of which the Chinese were driven off after suffering casualties.

CHANG AT NANKING
Nanking, China, Oct. 29.—Chang Hsueh-liang, governor of Manchuria under the Chinese Nationalist regime, who was forced out of his domain by the recent Japanese occupation, arrived here to-day by airplane from Peiping.

Chang began a consultation immediately with Chiang Kai-shek, Chinese President, regarding Manchuria and (Concluded on page 2)

MANITOBA WORKS GIVEN APPROVAL

Federal Cabinet Committee Accepts Relief Plans Totaling $1,250,000

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Oct. 29.—Approval by the special sub-committee of the cabinet on unemployment relief of $1,250,000 additional expenditure in Manitoba, including the federal government's share in the cost of construction of a large auditorium in the city of Winnipeg, was announced to-day by Senator G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor and chairman of the sub-committee.

Federal government commitments for Manitoba are now upward of $2,250,000, as compared with $900,000 which was the federal allotment for Manitoba last year in addition to the necessary direct relief on an equal three-way basis between the cities, province and Dominion.

COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS TAX ARREARS $141,282,217

Associated Press
Chicago, Oct. 29.—Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough says a total of $141,282,217 in Cook County taxes stands uncollected.

The delinquency, which sets a record in Cook County, is regarded by McDonough as one of the most serious phases of the reassessment tax muddle.

Unpaid taxes for three years—1927, 1928 and 1929—make up the delinquency. Real estate, personal and railroad taxes for the three years totaled $740,130,922.

POUND LOSES FOUR CENTS IN DEALS IN U.S.

Slips While Financiers Waiting Indication of British Government's Course

Canadian Press
New York, Oct. 29.—The pound sterling sold for $3.86 1/4 for cable transfers in local foreign exchange deals late this afternoon, a loss of four cents net from yesterday's close.

Sterling opened at $3.86 1/4, rose to $3.88 1/4 at noon and slipped back.

The drop of four cents in the pound attracted attention in financial circles, where the effect of Tuesday's general election in Great Britain on the pound's future was being discussed.

Little has been heard here as to the pre-election attitude of the Coalition Government toward stabilization of sterling, yet it is recognized that is one of the important questions facing the victors.

Alternatives are stabilization at the old level of $4.86 1/4, which was done six years ago, and revaluation at a lower rate. Should the government decide in favor of the former policy it is expected rather prompt action will be taken. Should the latter course be adopted, sterling, in the opinion of bankers, will probably be allowed to seek its own level.

Mrs. S. McClay, Vancouver, Dies

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Oct. 29.—Mrs. Amanda Fitzgerald McClay, aged fifty-two, wife of Sam McClay, chairman of the Vancouver Harbor Board, died this morning at her home, West King Edward Avenue. She had been in failing health for two months.

A native of Donegal, Ireland, she came to Vancouver thirty years ago. She was a popular member of the Women's Club of the city. Besides Mr. McClay, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. M. D. Rose of Penticton and Katherine, and one son, Gerald, both at home.

SPEAKERS SEE BETTER TIMES
Vancouver and Victoria Business Men Encouraged By British Election

Encouraging signs for an early improvement in business conditions throughout the world were seen by Victoria and Vancouver speakers at the joint banquet of Victoria Chamber of Commerce and Vancouver Board of Trade members held in the Hotel Vancouver yesterday evening.

Victoria members, who returned this morning, state that satisfaction over the success achieved by the National Government in Great Britain was expressed in the opening speech by Mayor D. Hamilton, president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, and echoed by all other speakers.

Mr. Hamilton asserted the victory achieved in Great Britain at the polls Tuesday would go a long way towards settling the troubles of the world.

Mayor Anscomb of Victoria, after paying a graceful tribute to Mayor Taylor, stated that Canada and the rest of the world was passing through a crisis, but he had never seen or heard of one yet that Britishers, if they put their shoulder to the wheel, could not surmount.

ALONG NATIONAL LINES
Reg. Hayward, M.P.P., former mayor of Victoria, stated that the return of the National Government showed the people of Great Britain, in times of stress, thought and acted along national lines.

Due to the delay caused by the 1929 reassessment, $410,130,922 of this became payable within a period of ten months and five days (1928 taxes were due July 10, 1929, 1928 taxes were due May 15, 1931).

To avoid payment, many taxpayers took advantage of recourse to the courts, their objections forestalling payment of $49,528,941 in 1928 taxes.

Unpaid taxes for three years—1927, 1928 and 1929—make up the delinquency. Real estate, personal and railroad taxes for the three years totaled $740,130,922.

EDISON ESTATE TO BE DIVIDED UNDER WILL

Most of It Given to Charles and Theodore, Sons, to Share With Others as They Decide

Newark, N.J., Oct. 29.—The late Thomas A. Edison left the bulk of his estate to the two sons of his second marriage, leaving it largely to them to decide how much the older children could have and how soon they could get it. He provided for his wife before he died, and so left her nothing in the will filed for probate here to-day.

The value of the estate was not mentioned in the will.

Not only were Charles Edison and Theodore Edison, sons of the inventor and the widow, named executors, but they also were made residuary legatees with full power to distribute the residue among themselves and their brothers and sisters whenever they might deem it wise, and in such proportion as they might think best.

PROVISION FOR WIDOW
The will spoke of the widow as "my dear wife," and explained no provision was made for her in the will because Mr. Edison had settled sufficient property on her while he lived.

The inventor left all his shares of capital stock in the Thomas A. Edison Industries Inc. to Charles and Theodore. His railroad and government and first mortgage bonds in the Edison Portland Cement Company were left to the six children for equal division; but other securities were left to the children in the proportion of 40 per cent.

JERRY GETS SOFT BERTH FOR SERVICE
Veteran Park Horse Retired From City Staff After More Than Twenty Years; Was Popular With Children, Who Fed Him Candy.

A veteran member of the civic service was retired last week. For more than twenty years he has served the city faithfully and not a few regrets have been expressed over his departure.

He is "Jerry," who for the last ten years has performed the office work in Beacon Hill Park. He has been superannuated to Duncan McTavish's gladioli farm for the rest of his days.

Jerry is twenty-eight years old. While his "wages" were paid on the rating of a work horse he was something more than that. Jerry has personality. Children who visit the park every Sunday were his favorites, and he was their favorite. They used to feed him candy through the wire netting on his day off. They will miss him.

As a work horse, he also rated high. "He was a fine puller, although he was only small," said Sam Smith, who has performed the office work in Beacon Hill Park as a three-year-old.

A handsome big Clydesdale, almost twice as big, has taken Jerry's place in front of Sam Smith. He may be called Jerry II.

Premier MacDonald Meets With Members of Ministry Which Won Election and Undertakes First Major Task—That of Reorganizing Cabinet; Members Expected to Total Twenty

London, Oct. 29.—Premier MacDonald and his National Cabinet met to-day for the first time since before the general election.

No Conference Of Empire Before Summer of 1932

The first task of the Prime Minister—and the most difficult task of the moment—before any programme can be laid down, is to build up his cabinet, it is generally agreed. It will probably be enlarged to a score of ministers instead of the ten who compose it at present.

The most interesting speculation is as to who will succeed Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, retiring Chancellor of the Exchequer. The choice so far as the public knows, seems to lie between Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, organizing head of the Conservative party, who is now Minister of Health in the cabinet, and Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, well-known shipping magnate, a National Liberal, who was elected to the House without opposition. Mr. Runciman was President of the Board of Trade from 1914 to 1916, and he held various government posts before that.

BALDWIN HAS NEW PIPE
When he arrived for to-day's cabinet meeting Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, President of the Council and Conservative leader, sported a new cherrywood pipe. Lord Reading was the only one to take the other Dominions—New Zealand—will have an election on its hands before Christmas, and this fact would definitely eliminate that country from participation until after its affairs had again become straightened away.

EXPECTED TO ACCEPT
In political circles here there is no disposition to believe the other nations of the Empire will not be sympathetic toward Mr. Bennett's reiterated proposal. That they will accept it is taken almost for granted. Last summer the two to be elected the English universities may not be known for some days.

The party standing is as follows: Conservatives, 472; gains 207, National Labor, 13; gains 3, National Liberals, 86; gains 27, losses 12.

NOT PARTY VICTORY
Both Premier MacDonald and Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, along with the leading British newspapers, warn that the result of the general election was not a party victory.

STRIKE THREAT IN HAVANA

Havana, Oct. 29.—The Havana Electric Railway Company, whose motor-men and conductors were on strike for forty-five days in August and September, faced new difficulties with its employees to-day. A strike was decreed unless a new set of demands, including wage increases, is accepted.

DECISION EXPECTED TO-DAY ON B.C. RELIEF PROGRAMME

Finance Minister in Ottawa Conferring With Members of Cabinet

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—Hon. J. W. Jones, Finance Minister of British Columbia, to-day met Senator G. D. Robertson, Dominion Minister of Labor, and Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and discussed with them unemployment relief proposals of the Pacific province. The discussion was preparatory to the final disposition by the federal government of the proposals for relief works received from British Columbia.

MAN AMPUTATES HIS OWN HAND

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 29.—John Oglesby, forty-four, a farmer, to-day amputated his own right hand with a pocket knife after it had become inextricably caught in the cogs of a corn breaker.

An hour later he walked into a Springfield hospital, putting a pipe. "I cut my hand off," he said.

Astronomer Makes Prediction Planet P Soon Will Be Discovered

By Howard W. Blakester, Associated Press Science Editor
New York, Oct. 29.—Prediction of a new, giant planet lying far outside the present limits of the solar system was received to-day from Professor William H. Pickering, internationally known astronomer at the Mandeville, Jamaica, private observatory.

He is one of the two astronomers who predicted the existence and position of Pluto, the "Planet X," discovered two years ago. He calls the new unknown planet "P."

The planet, he estimates, is the third most massive of the sun's family, with a diameter of 44,000 miles, more than five times that of the earth.

Its distance from the sun appears to range from 5,000 million miles to 9,000 million, or fifty-five to ninety-five times the earth's distance. Its elliptical orbit accounts for the variations in distance.

Planet P takes a computed 656 years to make one circuit around the sun. It is so big, Professor Pickering says, that when telescopes locate the planet it will show a clearly defined disk. Pluto, about the earth's size, and but half as far from the sun as the calculated position of Planet P, shows only as a point of light even in the world's largest telescopes.

NAVY LEAGUE OF U.S. SCORES THE PRESIDENT

Reduction Policy of Washington Administration Is Condemned in Pamphlet

Hoover Described as "Abysmally Ignorant" of Why Navies Are Maintained

Associated Press

Washington, Oct. 29.—Charges of "abysmal ignorance" on the part of President Hoover and subordination of the United States sea forces to those of other powers from the spearhead of the Navy League's latest attack on the administration's naval policies.

Renewing its opposition to the proposed world armament building holiday, the league also revived the ghost of an old controversy between the chief executive and the Senate.

It suggests a secret agreement with Premier MacDonald of Great Britain caused the administration's refusal to transmit to the Senate foreign relations committee the full record of its negotiations and possible commitments preparatory to the London Naval Conference of 1930.

BIG NAVY FACTION
The league is representative of much of this country's sentiment for increased naval armaments. In its printed publication, it has the signature of William Howard Gardner, president, it describes itself as "an organization of civilians that for over a quarter of a century has specialized in accurate information as to naval matters."

The proposal of President Hoover to immunize sea-borne food during war brought the accusation that he had exhibited "abysmal ignorance of how they are used to accomplish their major mission. This proposal, the league adds, "seems to come from an inveterate misconception of the mission of naval power both in peace and war."

IN CONTROL
"Acceptance of his suggestion would have worked not only diametrically counter to the interests and weight of the United States in world affairs," the pamphlet contends, "but, in effect, would have made for bigger and bigger wars, and yet such is the psychology that is not only controlling our internal naval policy but dictating its external subordination to those of foreign naval powers."

Reviewing the points leading up to the London Naval Conference and its aftermath, the league concludes that in effect of building to catch up with Great Britain's fleet, the president's action is leading in a different direction.

It asserts the proposal of Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy for an armistice holiday of one year to which United States approval has been indicated, was actually inspired by the Washington administration.

Shanghai, Oct. 29.—A dispatch from Tokio to-day said Premier Baron Wakauchi and Foreign Minister Arita of Japan informed the Privy Council to-day Japan would refuse to withdraw her troops within the railway zone in Manchuria until the Sino-Japanese differences are settled by diplomatic negotiations between the two countries.

THANKS BRIAND
Paris, Oct. 29.—Kenichi Yoshizawa, Japanese Ambassador, conferred to-day with Foreign Minister Aristide Briand.

The Japanese Ambassador afterward said to the press purely to thank M. Briand for his fairness in conducting the League of Nations Council sessions. He said he had advanced no new suggestion as to how to solve the Sino-Japanese controversy involving Japan and China.

Inconvenience to those countries, in view of new developments that had arisen within their own borders, was the chief reason for cancelling their previous acceptance to send representatives to the Canadian capital. All continued to regard resumption of the conference as essential to the solution of the empire's economic difficulties, and in the light of this the assumption is that they will again welcome the Prime Minister's invitation.

FIELD OF TREATIES
As Canada's commercial relations with the other Dominions are concerned these have undergone some change. A new treaty negotiated with Australia in a spirit of mutual helpfulness and goodwill is in force. Indications are that steps will be taken to reach an understanding with New Zealand that would place the relations of Canada with that Dominion on the same basis as those with Australia.

As to South Africa, recent reports have indicated negotiations between the union and this country looking toward a trade treaty are now in progress.

Investigators, however, said they had found the body of Miss Samuelson was dismembered before a transfer man carried it and the body of Mrs. Leroi in a trunk from the Leroi-Samuelson apartment to the home of Mrs. Judd.

The Los Angeles autopsy surgeon's report has certified certain portions were not in the trunk, or in the suitcase Mrs. Judd carried.

COAL BONUS RAISES HOPES

Island Coal Districts Affected Are Pleased Over Increased Subventions

Can Make Bid For Central American Business; More Men To Be Employed

Coal producing districts of Vancouver Island were pleased over the news from Ottawa of increased bonuses designed to develop production and markets.

Nanaimo, where the announcement was made by C. H. Dickie, M.P., is keyed up. It is hoped the increased coal subventions will result in the employment of several hundred miners who are now depending on relief work.

It may be the means of opening up the Wellington No. 9 mine, which would give work to about 300 men. Many miners and their families have been forced to leave the island coal districts owing to the depressed state of the coal trade. Machinery has already been set in motion by the coal operators to secure orders in foreign markets.

Col. C. W. Villiers, general manager of Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Limited, announces that the subvention will be a previous meeting on Tuesday and he is most optimistic as to results.

BID FOR EXPORT TRADE
Mayor G. A. B. Hall of Nanaimo, says that it was the best piece of news that had been received in the district for a long time. He contended that it would increase the output of the island mines, as the increase in the subvention would enable the operators to bid for Central American business.

Mayor A. Maxwell of Cumberland, the view that the increase in the bonus will help greatly in stimulating production in the Cumberland district. He felt that it would be the means of re-establishing a large number of men in the coal areas.

MAKES SCHEME UNIFORM
News dispatches from Ottawa to-day, emanating from the office of the Minister of Mines, stated that the increase in favor of the British Columbia producers was made in order to make the bonus uniform for all coal areas.

Under order-in-council 1302 of May 13 last, the government paid a bonus of 25 cents per ton on all coal produced in British Columbia and exported to foreign countries, other than the United States, or sold to steamers for fuel on voyages in foreign waters.

The new regulations fix the bonus on bunker coal at 50 cents a ton, on coal exported to foreign countries at $1.00 per ton. It was explained that it would be useless to apply the bonus to the coal produced in the United States, as that country has a countervailing duty that could at once be imposed to offset the favorable position of the British Columbia producer.

The bonus on bunker coal does not apply to fuel sold to steamers plying only within Canadian waters.

THINK LIQUOR RING LOCATED NEAR OTTAWA
Several Citizens of Federal Capital Reported Involved in Smuggling Organization

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—"Has a gigantic bootlegging ring been operating between the Ottawa district and the United States?" ask The Ottawa Citizen.

"Further anticipated developments following the seizure Tuesday afternoon by government officials of a United States airplane, a motor car and a quantity of Quebec beer and whisky are expected to see the lid blown off a smoothly-working liquor smuggling ring, and the names of a number of well-known Ottawans revealed in the spotlight."

The seizure was made on the farm of John Daley, six miles northwest of Aylmer, Quebec, at the foot of the Gatineau Hills, by Capt. J. L. McCullough of the preventive service of the National Revenue Department. While it was intimated at the department that "there would be quite a spill" if the government decided to institute prosecutions against the men who are known by the department to be concerned in the seizure, Q. E. S. Hunter, chief of the preventive service, declared no definite steps had yet been taken, but that the matter of prosecution was under consideration.

"Three hundred and eighty-four bottles of Quebec beer, two bottles of Quebec whisky and the motor car bearing an Ontario license number, from which the beer was being loaded into the airplane, were seized with the flying machine, were seized."

The pilot of the plane was stated to be a New York State man, and from which the beer was being loaded into the airplane, were seized with the flying machine, were seized."

Gray's Harbor Man Killed in East Africa
Aberdeen, Wash., Oct. 29.—A United States tourist named "Heron," reported killed by a lion during an East Africa hunting expedition, was believed here to-day to be Will H. Heron, retired Gray's Harbor County lumberman and capitalist.

Heron, accompanied by Mrs. Heron, Gust Peret of Oregon, champion fust rifle shot of the United States, and P. A. Coleman, Seattle archer, were hunting in that district.

It was Heron's second hunting trip in East Africa and he planned to bag lions, elephants and other big game as specimens for a United States university museum.

NOV. 5 SET FOR JUDGMENT ON CHIROPRACTORS

Vancouver Magistrate Reserves Decision Till That Date After Hearing Evidence

Use of Title "Doctor" in Question; Group of Healers Interested

Vancouver, Oct. 29.—Judgment was reserved by Magistrate G. R. McQueen, who on Wednesday afternoon heard charges against five Vancouver chiropractors and drugless healers. The charges, agreed under the Medical Act, concerned the use of the title "doctor."

After hearing evidence and statements of counsel, Magistrate McQueen reserved his decision until November 5. Those charged are H. S. Simonson, Gilbert H. Young, D. W. Campbell, W. J. Budnick and J. H. Hecburn.

Walter Sturdy and G. F. Moore, who face similar charges, will appear for hearing November 5.

Private detectives gave evidence regarding visits to offices of the accused, where they heard and saw the title "doctor" used.

J. W. de B. Parry, J. D. McPhee and Mark Cowan, declared there had been an understanding between the Medical Council and drugless healers that there would be no prosecutions until the recently appointed royal commission had concluded its sessions. Even if there were no such understanding they contended, the prosecutions were picturesque and undertaken only to embarrass their clients.

LETTER QUOTED
In support of his contention, Mr. Parry quoted a letter from H. D. Parry, M.P., to the Medical Council, outlining a basis of compromise and complaining the B.C. Medical Association had not treated him fairly in the matter.

Life Term in Prison For Boy of Twelve
Asotin, Wash., Oct. 29.—Hubert Nicolia, twelve-year-old slayer of Sheriff John Wornell, was sentenced to-day to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary. Superior Judge E. V. Rykandall said: "Stand up, Hubert. Have you anything to say before sentence is passed on you?"

The boy replied: "Nothing." He seemed unmoved as the sentence was pronounced.

Throughout the trial the "barfreak boy killer" maintained almost constantly the same continuous refrain: "I never since he had confessed killing the aged sheriff."

Although his early story that an Asotin Indian prompted him to rob the store on the promise of $2 and a trip to Canada, and told him to shoot anyone who attempted to stop him was disproved, the boy faced the jury with a cool, steady indifference throughout the sessions.

On the stand he recounted the episode straightforwardly, but denied he had ever intended to kill the sheriff. He was asked to tell the jury what he had in mind when he shot the sheriff.

ECONOMIC PLEA BY PRESIDENT OF GERMANY

Hindenburg, Addressing Advisory Council, Urges End of Partisanship

Berlin, Oct. 29.—For the third time since he became head of the republic, President von Hindenburg departed from his customary reserve today to address an earnest, almost fatherly, appeal to the new Economic Advisory Council at the opening of its first session.

His plea for a domestic truce and a common effort to overcome Germany's disastrous economic situation was compared by some of those who heard him with his famous war guilt speech on his eightieth birthday in 1927 and to his speech in March last year explaining why he had signed the Young Plan laws.

Help from abroad, he told the council, must be predicated on the union of divergent factions at home, and Germany's situation must be determined largely by political and economic considerations in the rest of the world.

"I expect," he said, "that you will be animated by an inflexible will to ward off from our people whatever can be warded off by Germany's own strength."

"Only thus can a basis be created for the necessary international efforts at solving the entire world crisis."

"Only the consciousness of devotion to duty and of supreme effort will enable our people to bear with dignity and with a feeling that all belong together, whatever proves to be an inescapable fate."

"None of you will fail to realize to what extent Germany's situation is determined by world political and economic considerations. These constitute the great tasks of Germany's foreign policy."

Solemnly and in a manner which clearly betrayed his anxiety, the President told the twenty-five council members partisanship must be forgotten and that collaboration between the government and the country's economic experts was a prerequisite to improvement in the country's condition.

Chancellor Brüning spoke when the President had finished, outlining in considerable detail the tasks the council faced. His remarks were not made public.

Scullin Regrets Defeat of Many British Laborites

Canadian Press Cable via Reuters
Canberra, Australia, Oct. 29.—Premier Scullin, who heads a Labor Government, today expressed regret that the British general election had resulted in defeat for so many of the Labor Party's outstanding men.

"Undoubtedly the National Government received a mandate to deal with the nation's difficulties, but there is nothing it can do which the previous government could not have done had the Labor Party given it united support," Mr. Scullin commented.

"The Labor Government could have straightened out the country's finances without imposing unnecessary hardships. Economy measures, of course, like surgical operations, are painful at times, but it is most necessary they should always be performed sympathetically."

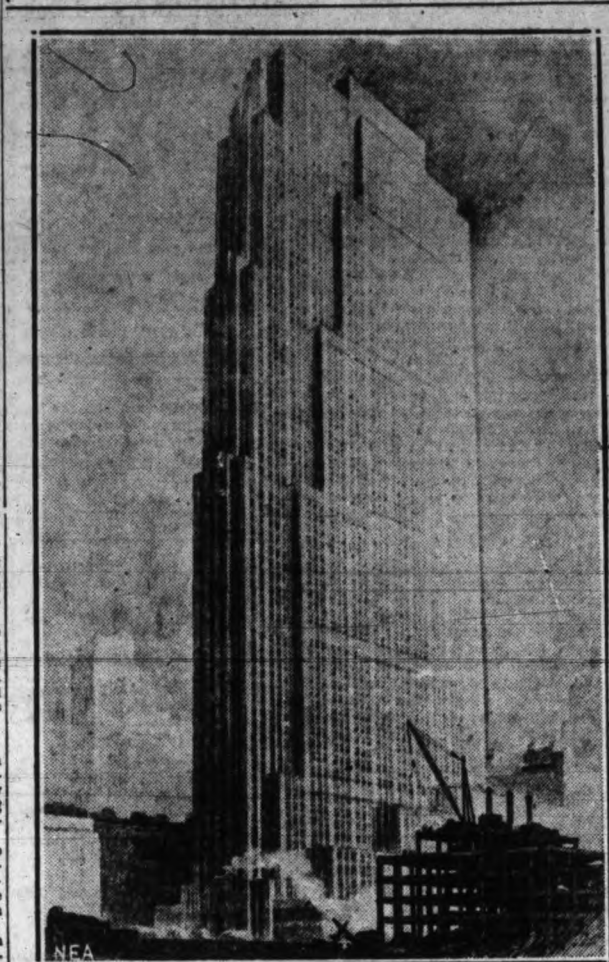

"I regret the defeat of many able men who occupied prominent positions in the British Parliament and the Labor movement for many years. The issues, however, were definitely placed before the electorate and the people have made their decision."

TO PUT BIG BETS ON ELECTION

San Francisco, Oct. 29.—The San Francisco Chronicle says a Seattle gambling syndicate, which cleaned up $800,000 on the 1927 municipal election here, is taking a straw vote in anticipation of next Tuesday's election for the purpose of placing bets.

A post office box was rented for receiving replies and straw ballots have been sent out to approximately 100,000 voters, the newspaper says.

WORLD'S LARGEST BUILDING TO RISE IN "RADIO CITY"

Here is an advance view of what is to be the world's largest building—the sixty-six-story central unit of New York's Radio City for which contracts in excess of $50,000,000 have just been let. Three square blocks of property in mid-town Manhattan have been cleared for the huge project, and work soon is to start on the structure pictures show and on an international Music Hall and a motion picture theatre. The office building, which will contain nearly 600,000 square feet of floor space more than the Empire State building, is to house the National Broadcasting Company, the Radio Corporation of America, and twenty-seven broadcasting studios.

STALIN UNABLE TO UNDERSTAND THE BRITISH MOSCOW PAPERS GIVE VIEWS ON BRITISH ELECTION

London, Oct. 29.—News dispatches from Riga dealing with the British general election, credit Joseph Stalin, Soviet chief, with the statement that the British mentality is "incurable."

The Riga dispatches also said Stalin remarked reports from Communist agitators in Britain were unreliable.

GREAT POTATO LOSSES IN FRANCE

Paris, Oct. 29.—Frenchmen lost $60,000,000 worth of their potato crop this year, it is estimated, through the depredations of the Colorado beetle, which made its first appearance in France shortly after the Great War.

The pest has now spread to about thirty of the ninety departments in the country and threatens to reach all of them before long.

Germans Study British Election

Berlin, Oct. 29.—German press comment on the results of the British general election centres on the fear Great Britain may soon erect barriers against Germany's export trade and make solution of the reparations problem more difficult than ever.

Hope is voiced that a most favored nation agreement would mitigate the worst hardships of a possible British protective tariff.

THREE CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH

Independence, Mo., Oct. 29.—Three children were burned fatally and two others were injured in an explosion which accompanied their attempt to start a cook stove fire with kerosene in the absence of their parents here yesterday evening.

A discussion of Halloween stories previously told led the children to lock the doors of the home, delaying rescue attempts.

Those who lost their lives were Thomas Roy Wright, six; Edith Wright, nine, his sister, and Thomas Brown, eleven, a neighbor boy who was visiting them. Edith, Fern Wright and Ella Jane Wright, eleven-year-old twins, were burned dangerously.

The survivors said they had intended to start the fire to drive the chill of late evening from the home.

The father of the Wright children, William C. Wright, had gone out to search for a job. He is an unemployed concrete mixer. The mother was at another home.

U.S. HUNTER LOSES LIFE IN AFRICA

ELECTION NOT PARTY VICTORY SAYS BALDWIN

Labor Party of Britain Will Rise Again With New Leaders, Says MacDonald

London, Oct. 29.—"This is no party victory," declared Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, yesterday evening. "It is an emphatic declaration by the people as a whole in favor of national co-operation in order to restore the fortunes of the country. Democracy has justified itself in the most striking fashion, and the patriotic instincts of our people have been revealed in all their strength."

Mr. Baldwin was speaking not merely as the leader of the Conservative Party, but as President of the Council and the second-in-command of the government which in the general election on Tuesday amassed the most overwhelming majority the House of Commons has seen in modern times.

LABOR OUTLOOK

"This is not the end of the Labor Party," said Premier MacDonald yesterday evening in a message to the voters of Becham, his constituency. "It will rise again, but only with new leaders who have vision and courage. It must be based on a citizen and not a class outlook. This defeat of the Labor Party will be for its ultimate good, if its lessons are learned."

Great Britain's position in the world would be strengthened immeasurably by the election, he said.

STATEMENT BY SNOWDEN

Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, who followed Premier MacDonald into the National Government as Chancellor of the Exchequer, but who was not a candidate in the general election, yesterday said he did not rejoice "at the disaster which had come to the Labor Party."

"The Chancellor emphasized Tuesday's voting had resulted in a National Government victory and not in the victory of any one party."

"Millions of men and women have voted for candidates with whose general political views they are not in agreement, on the sole ground of showing the world Britain is determined to stand four-square and bring the nation through its difficulties," Mr. Snowden said.

"The result is a magnificent justification of democracy. The leaders of the National Government have told the nation the truth about the issue and the democracy has trusted its leaders."

"I do not rejoice at the disaster which has come to the Labor Party. I regret it, because the Labor leaders have brought this catastrophe on themselves and to the party by their folly, lack of courage and leadership, and their misunderstanding of the popular spirit."

"They hoped to exploit the unemployed for party advantage."

"The electors in the industrial areas where unemployment is highest have given a most emphatic condemnation of the Labor leaders."

"Millions of unemployed and former labor voters put national interests before party this election without in the least changing their political and social ideas."

South Africans Analyze British Election Results

Capetown, South Africa, Oct. 29.—Gratification among Nationalist groups in South Africa over the results of the British general election is tempered by some fears the overwhelming Conservative majority may result in a reactionary policy toward South Africa.

The Nationalist newspaper Die Burger today declared: "While in view of the world crisis, South Africa can have a sigh of relief, she must expect a Conservative campaign along economic lines to undermine the constitutional independence we have attained, and make it practically worthless."

In the business centre of Cradock, Cape Province, local business men started a "kicker" collection of three-penny bits, or six cents each—in order to send a most cable of congratulations to Premier MacDonald.

CONFERENCE OF KINGS CALLED IN JERUSALEM

Near East and Northern African Moslem Princes Are to Meet

Jerusalem, Oct. 29.—"A conference of kings" on a scale greater than those of Biblical times will be held here in December. At least a dozen crowned potentates and a score of ruling princes are expected.

Problems concerning the future of the Near East and the Moslem world will be discussed. Invitations have already been sent to all Moslem kings, princes, emirs and rulers in Northern Africa, the Near East, Arabia and India.

The question of naming Prince Abdel Mejid, former Caliph and Sultan of Turkey, as titular spiritual head of the Mohammedan world, with his throne in Jerusalem, will also come up. The former Caliph of Turkey, who was expelled by Mustafa Kemal Pasha after the Turkish Nationalist Government had divorced the state from the church, is now living in exile in France.

He is expected to come to the "council of kings" and may proclaim himself Caliph, or official head of the Moslem communities of the world, which number nearly 25,000,000 souls.

One message from Beirut, capital of Syria, states King Feisal of Iraq has come to an understanding with the former Caliph whereby the Indian and Moslem rulers would be willing to provide funds in order to maintain the Caliphate in Jerusalem.

Egyptian newspapers have predicted Feisal's candidature for the throne of Syria (now a French mandate under the League of Nations) is certain to materialize.

WHAT WILL THE OFFER BE?

PREMIER BENNETT HAS ISSUED A statement in which he expresses the hope that the adjourned Imperial Economic Conference may be resumed at Ottawa "at the earliest possible date." The Prime Minister says his government "is confident the conference will achieve an enduring plan of closer economic association." He considers the need for such an association was never more urgent, its benefits never more apparent, and the pronouncement concludes with the assurance that "Canada will do its full share to bring it about."

The new government in Great Britain no doubt will welcome the announcement from Ottawa and arrange for adequate representation at the gathering in question. It will be recalled that in his formal election manifesto, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald said "the government must be free to consider every proposal likely to help, such as tariff, the expansion of exports and contraction of imports, commercial treaties and mutual economic agreements with the Dominions." Mr. Baldwin also referred to his desire for closer economic association with the Dominions. Therefore there should be little or no difficulty in arranging the conference at an early date.

Initiative on the part of Mr. Bennett, however, will have to go a good deal further than calling for the resumption of the conference. If this gathering is to produce the enduring plan of closer economic association of which he speaks, it will be necessary for him and his colleagues in the cabinet to make up their minds what sort of a proposal they intend to present, first to Great Britain, and secondly to New Zealand. Canada's economic relations with the southern Dominion have been strained for some months and Canadian-New Zealand trade has dwindled to a shadow of what it was a year ago. It has been a costly little tariff war, and it is high time the peace-makers got busy and repaired the damage.

The record of Canada's trade relations with Great Britain is clear. The gradual reduction of the duty on British goods entering this country up till the summer of last year had been responsible for the development of a large and profitable business—a business which for several years gave Canada an approximate three-to-one advantage. The Dunning budget proposed still further reductions, and the exchange of commodities was expected to grow. But these proposals went into the discard with the change of government at Ottawa. Mr. Bennett replaced them with a new schedule of higher duties, which, of course, decreased the British Preference. He took the schedule to London with him and told the British government's representatives at the conference there that if Britain would impose a general ten per cent tariff against foreign food-stuffs, he would put a similar duty on foreign goods entering Canada, thus giving British products that much advantage in the Canadian market. That is to say, a duty of twenty per cent against British goods would mean twenty-two per cent against foreign goods. But this concession was practically worthless because he had just raised the duties against British goods. And he made it quite clear that under no circumstances would he reduce that tariff.

It is necessary to face these facts while we observe the tendency in some quarters on both sides of the Atlantic to interpret the result of the British elections as the beginning of a new era in inter-imperial economic relations. It is true, of course, that Canada should be doing more business with Britain, with New Zealand, and with the other Dominions of the empire—and a change in the tariff policy of this country would quickly accomplish the results desired. That is why we say that if Mr. Bennett wants something tangible to come out of a new discussion of the subject, he would be wise to lose no time in drawing up his government's proposal. The idea that Canada can do all the selling and only very little of the buying will have to be abandoned, which means the abandonment of the fatuous idea that our home market of 10,000,000 people can make up for our loss of trade abroad.

It must be borne in mind, moreover, that the representatives which the new government in London will send to Ottawa will not lose sight of the important fact that Britain's trade with the world at large is the mainstay of her economic fortunes; and she needs her world markets now more than ever she has done in her history. That is why it is foolish to anticipate at this stage any epoch-making trade relationship because tariff protectionists may be a majority of Premier MacDonald's followers. Canada's protectionists so far have been able to keep the bars up against British competition in the Canadian market, and there is no indication that they have changed their attitude. A few months will tell the story.

THE DEBT QUESTION

IN A DISPATCH TO THE CANADIAN newspapers which he represents in Washington, Mr. C. O. Smith says a considerable section of the eastern United States press is beginning to argue for a new deal for Great Britain in the matter of war debts. He tells us that the visit of Premier Laval has served to bring out certain facts that redound to Britain's credit, notably her prompt beginning of debt payments prior to the funding of the debt, and the further fact that she undertook to pay so large a proportion of her original bill. Additional admiration for British conduct—not related to the war agreements—Mr. Smith says, has been inspired by her reported payment of $100,000,000 of the $125,000,000 advanced recently by New York to stabilize her credit.

The attitude of the section of the press referred to seems to be that if in future "capacity to pay" is to be the basis of payment, Great Britain, in comparison to France, is entitled to better terms. Under the Baldwin funding settlement of 1923, Great Britain committed herself to pay 69.9 per cent of the total debt then owed, according to American calculations, to the United States. France, some years later, funded her debt at 39.7 per cent of the total, while her interest rate is only 1.6 per cent compared with that of Britain at 3.3 per cent. Mr. Smith then recalls:

The British Government has adhered to the principle stated by Lord Balfour in 1922. This was that the policy favored by England was the surrendering of her share of German reparations and the writing off of the whole body of inter-Alleied indebtedness. In no circumstances, he added, did England propose to ask more from her debtors than was necessary to pay her creditors. There is the suggestion here now that the reverse of this should apply, and that England should be asked to pay no more to her creditors than she receives from her debtors.

It begins to look as if the whole question of reparations and inter-governmental debts arising out of the war will soon drop completely into the purely academic realm. Capacity to pay is an elusive phrase. As Germany has been finding the reparations money out of which instalments have been paid on the debt owed to Britain by her allies and by her to the United States, and since practically all the money Germany has paid out in this way has been money loaned to her by her former adversaries, Germany ought to find it comparatively simple to show that she can not pay her reparations bill for many years to come. Indeed, if it were not for the tragic cause of this business, there would be more than an element of humor in the whole reparations and inter-governmental debt discussion. The guess that when the one-year moratorium went into effect, most of these bills were figuratively torn up, may not be far wrong.

GIVE US PEACE

WHILE SOME PESSIMISTIC NEWS- papers despair of the world ever regaining its sanity or of demanding that there shall be no more war, it is refreshing to note that such a popular daily as The London Daily Mirror, read by millions every day, misses no opportunity of recording the hopeful signs for peace as they appear. A recent issue notes the interchange of visits to Paris and Berlin of French and German statesmen and sees in this a happy augury. It says in part:

A few months ago, German ministers, passing through Paris, were saluted by shouts of "No more war!" and "Long live Germany!" by the crowd assembled to welcome them.

We need not exaggerate the significance of these cries. But it is not true that too little is made of any elements of goodwill, and of any instinct towards permanent reconciliation that exist in the mass of great nations? Cannot more be done to develop the nascent sense of a common past and to cast oblivion over the past?

The world's leaders and rulers tend to be afraid of "showing weakness"—so they speak of international law as a "sacred cow" in the long course of bargaining with other countries, they will be blamed if they do not maintain the traditional "stiff front" which takes all it can get and gives nothing it could spare.

This attitude of defiance and distrust would be softened if the great men, the diplomats and the war-mongers everywhere, were convinced that the crowd below them were ready to approve a "change of heart" manifested in a gesture of kindness. "Bring us peace" shout the crowd in Berlin. "No more war" say some of the people of Paris.

These cries give us hope for the future. In spite of all this a certain section of the press, even in this country, seems to take delight in the fact that the League of Nations has not been able to compose the difference between Japan and China in Manchuria. It is not recognized, however, that the moral force of the organization at Geneva is preventing an open conflagration between the two Oriental nations. What would have happened if the League had not been in existence?

If Great Britain uses a protective tariff as a club, and Canada continues to use her protective tariff for the same purpose, there may arise a situation between the Dominion and the Old Country similar to that which exists between this Dominion and New Zealand.

The winning of second prize in the world's junior oratorical competition at Washington recently by a young man from Quebec reminds us that this is the third time in succession a representative from that province has distinguished himself in that contest. Two years ago Quebec's champion won the trophy. Last year he won second place.

Already there are signs that in certain political quarters in the Old Country schemes are being laid to take Premier Ramsay MacDonald, J. H. Thomas and some of their Liberal and Labor colleagues "for a ride," to use a modern Chicagoism. For some time, however, that interesting event will not be possible, for the simple reason that Mr. MacDonald at present happens to overshadow every other leader in popularity, and any attempt to extinguish him politically would react disastrously upon the would-be extinguishers. As Mr. Capone would say, "That feller packs a gat in every pocket and both sleeves. He is a walking machine gun."

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

NO HITCHING
 The Sioux City Tribune
 Experience has taught that the best way to stop hitch-hiking is just to let them hike.

LOST HIS WIFE
 The Border Cities Star
 New Jersey man lost his wife during a tour of Newark's speakeries and says he can't remember where he left her. Gwan, that's just an excuse to go back.

THE GOLD STANDARD
 The Toronto Star
 J. M. Keynes and other British economists have been saying for months that in view of the course of France and the United States, Great Britain should go off the gold standard. She cannot support the whole gold structure if those two great nations undermine it. Prime Minister Bennett declared "without a moment's hesitation" that Canada would adhere to the gold standard even if Britain did not. But is a gold standard which France and the United States have utilized selfishly and not as an international system deserving of support? It is, we think, probable that Canadian bankers will not share Mr. Bennett's confidence that Canada will adhere—if we can be said to be doing so now—to a gold standard which is not internationally managed according to the principles on which the system is based.

A THOUGHT

 Large offers and sturdy rejections are among the most common topics of falsehood—Johnson.

Loose Ends

A rule for churchmen who think—some encouragement for a major cause—and a dangerous threat to our happiness and beauty.

By H. B. W.

NOT LONG AGO, you may recall, a local churchman was publicly castigated and journalistically scourged because he made a speech on Russia, which, perhaps, was a trifle radical in tone. At least, it had the fatal defect that it indicated some mental process behind it, which, of course, is always anybody. The guardians of our civilization instantly pounced on this quaint churchman as if to crush him. They said it was all right for ordinary men to discuss Bolshevism, but for a minister of the church to do so was heresy, treason, and un-Christian. Minutely, treason, and un-Christian, should confine themselves to unwelcome matters and not meddle in public affairs.

THE OTHER DAY, however, the Bishop of London, a minister of the same church as the local churchman aforesaid, made a speech at a gathering of the heads of that church. And the Bishop of London, being a man of strong views and stout heart, told the people of his church that their duty was to support the National Government and by all means to vote against the Labor Party, whose election would be utterly disastrous to the country. According to reports of his speech, it was a blunt political speech, with no apology for its being so. This, I think, is quite all right. It is good to see that at least two churchmen are not afraid to say what they think about anything. But what intrigues my irreverent fancy is the utter silence with which the Bishop of London's speech has been greeted. No guardians of our civilization attacked him for meddling in public affairs. Journalistic defenders of our liberties, who saw a grave menace in a dean discussing faintly radical ideas, could see not anything wrong with a bishop discussing conservative ones.

WE HAVE achieved, therefore, a simple and highly moral code of conduct for churchmen and it is this: They may discuss worldly affairs, they may make political speeches so long as they agree with us, and in doing so they will be serving the purposes of Providence. But they may not discuss worldly affairs, they may not make political speeches if they do not agree with us, for that is serving the purposes of Evil.

AT LEAST I am getting some support for one of my three major causes. My three major causes, as you may know by this time, are the release of the animals at what is laughingly called the zoo at Beacon Hill Park; the salvation of the maple trees in Parliament Square; and the destruction of our civilization. That is to say, the Government is destroying the maple trees and civilization is destroying itself, without my help. But about the zoo I am encouraged. Over in Vancouver, I see by the papers, an agitation against the Vancouver zoo is under way.

THOSE OPPOSED to it say very properly that there is no animal in the zoo which cannot be seen to much better advantage in the movies, so that if it goes over had any educational advantage it has disappeared. All that is left at the Vancouver zoo are a lot of many animals which don't feed thousands of dollars a year to feed while our human beings don't know where their next meal is coming from. It is almost comic, indeed, to see how governments invariably see to the feeding of imprisoned animals and of dairy stock before looking to humans.

BUT LET that pass. The point is that the Vancouver zoo is pronounced to be an offence to decent men. If it is an offence to decent men, what of our weird collection of sickly freaks housed in tumble-down shacks and dark concrete prisons? The English language has never sunk low enough to provide a word for it. The municipal statesmen who maintain it, who insist on torturing these poor, dilapidated creatures, may ask whether it wouldn't be as cruel to kill the zoo inmates as to keep them. By no means. In their present condition the most merciful thing that could be done for them would be to put them painlessly away. This is also true at the present time of municipal and all other statesmen. But no one seems to do anything about it.

A DANGEROUS movement has just got under way in Britain. There the sculptor of the Royal Artillery Monument in London has carved a statue of Justice, and instead of the traditional young woman in revealing Greek costume, he has made Justice an old man with side whiskers and a frock coat. Very likely Justice is more accurately represented by side whiskers and a frock coat. Very likely one has no right to expect, and seldom receives justice from young women, in Greek or other costume, but the new idea of representing civic virtues as stuffy males with side whiskers is too realistic to be pleasant. It should be stopped before it goes any further.

I MEAN to say, first thing you know, they will be representing the virtues of public life by figures of men who really practice them, in place of plump females who never have anything to do with them. What is to become of our monuments, our public buildings? Our Parliament Buildings are bad enough now, with their hideous tribe of nineteenth century statesmen in side whiskers, flowing beards and billowing frock coats. What will the buildings be like when they are infested with stout statesmen of the present time without flowing beards, or billowing frock coats to hide them.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES
 OCTOBER 29, 1906
 (From The Times Files)

A special dispatch to The Times from Ottawa says that the Grand Trunk Company is about to place orders in England for several large cargo and passenger boats for service on the Atlantic and the Pacific.

Instructions have been issued from the Admiralty for the sloop Shearwater, Commander Adrian G. Allgood, to be commissioned at Esquimaux, another term of service on the Pacific, as her present commission expires on November 11.

Members of the park committee of the City Council, particularly its chairman, Alderman Douglas, have been occupied during the past few weeks in devising some scheme by which the alterations and extensions to Beacon Hill Park can be carried out without additional burden to the ratepayers.

The contract has been awarded by Pither and Leiser for their new business block on the corner of Wharf and Fort Streets, where the excavation is now in progress. The contract has been given to Gribble, Skene and Company, and approaches $59,000.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Light to moderate winds; generally fair and cold at night.

The second rugby game between the Vancouver Rugby Club and the University of California took place at Berkeley on Saturday afternoon, when the representatives of this province won by a score of three goals to nil.

LIGHT AND TELEPHONE RATES

To the Editor:—Now that the B.C. Electric Railway has reduced the rate for light to the ordinary household, would it not be in order for the B.C. Telephone Company to follow suit by lowering their rate in conjunction with the lowering of all other commodities, including wages? During these times of depression and unemployment this would certainly be appreciated by everyone. That twenty cents a month that was added a year or two ago could very well be taken

RELIEF WORK

To the Editor:—Will you please enlighten me through the columns of your paper what constitutes an eligible relief worker? Is this money for relief of destitutes, or is it political soporific? These camps appear to be a Christmas pudding, from which anybody can pull out a plum; the less it is needed, the larger the plum. Men are quitting logging operations and other jobs, farmers are letting their crops go untended to go on relief work. Also, is a man, his wife and family all entitled to this relief work?

"CHEER UP, EVERYBODY"

To the Editor:—Nothing can be gained by our present gloomy outlook on to-day's conditions in the business world. The best way is to laugh it off, talk and think good times, and they sure will come again.

After all, it is a personal problem. No government or mass effort or even social legislation can have the same lasting good as the determination to help the other fellow.

There is a large number of officials bemoaning their lot, who, if they got out and hustled after trade, could get all they wanted, and there would be a lot more store clerks and sales people employed if a few more professional store-window men were engaged, for with some brilliant exceptions the store windows in Victoria would not win any medals for beautiful and trade-getting displays.

There are a number of certified men and women on the employment agency's books who could repair your home, dig your garden, clean windows, wash cars, etc., and women and girls to housework, cook, needlework or mend your babies, and do not presume that when we rush into an Asiatic's store or send our laundry to our friends from Hongkong that it will help our brothers or sisters to obtain work. So loosen up, smile, work and spend.

BLUENOSE

THE FIRST TO DO IT

To the Editor:—On the front page of Thursday's Times, October 22, in reference to the recent visit of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to Victoria, you state him to be the "first conqueror of the Atlantic."

With due appreciation of Col. Lindbergh's feat, I would point out that, according to the annals of aviation, and with reference to your paper of June 15, 1929, two British airmen, namely, Sir John Alcock and Sir Arthur W. Brown, were in fact the first conquerors of the Atlantic, their attempt being made on the night of June 14, 1919. To quote your paper, they "took off from a lonely field at St. John's Newfoundland, to make the 1,880 (Concluded on Page 14)"

JUBILEE LINEN SHOWER SOON

November 12 Set Aside For Women's Auxiliary's Annual Appeal

The Women's Auxiliary of the Royal Jubilee Hospital will hold their annual linen shower at the nurses' home on Thursday afternoon, November 12, preliminary plans to this end being made at the monthly meeting of the auxiliary, held yesterday afternoon with the president, Mrs. W. A. Chambers, in the chair. A special appeal will be made for towels, table napkins and pillow slips, 32x44 inches.

Six new members were welcomed at the meeting and a standing vote of sympathy was passed to Mrs. J. L. Crump and Mrs. B. C. Richards in their recent bereavements. A letter was received from the hospital board expressing grateful thanks for the cheque for $1,200 donated by the auxiliary. All bills were ordered paid. Miss Mitchell, nursing superintendent, asked for a box of flannellette for babies' gowns, which request will be acceded to, and the auxiliary also decided to make new curtains for the fourth floor.

Mrs. John Phethean, membership secretary, reported the receipt of $58 in membership dues.

Fellowship Club Tea—The Fellowship Club held its usual tea and entertainment in the two wards for aged and infirm patients at the Jubilee Hospital on Tuesday afternoon. An attractive programme was given by Mrs. Shrimpton, Mrs. Griffin and Mrs. Davidson, vocal numbers; Mrs. Brown, piano solos and Mrs. Thornborrow, violin. Everybody joined in the community singing which is a feature of these entertainments, and the visitors served dainty refreshments.

1931 CINDERELLA

A 1931 Cinderella, Serafino Di Leo, above, nineteen-year-old daughter of an Italian laborer living in New Jersey, will make her debut in American opera with the Chicago Civic Opera Company, November 8.

Unknown three years ago, she sang for Mme. Giovanni Martini, wife of the noted tenor, and as a result was sent to Italy to study.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Lips to harmonize with the gown of a dozen new shades, and artificial glue-tipped long sweeping eyelashes are the latest make-up notes.

Watchful cosmeticians saw early in the season that the lipstick many women had been wearing as "their shades" quarreled with the new fall reds and wines. The outcome was the recommendation that the lip rouge be determined by the color of the dress or accessories, and a half a dozen lipsticks are required on a job formerly done by one.

For the new wine tones a deep raspberry lip coloring is advised. Flame red in the dress or accessories is matched exactly by flame-red lipstick. This shade also goes with green and woody browns, white and black. For pastel evening shades an almost pastel red lipstick is the recommendation.

Medium red is worn with black costumes. Lipsticks with a hint of purple complements dark blue. For the new rust shades there are the light, medium and dark rust-colored lipsticks.

EYE MAKE-UP
Eye make-up also calls for a range of eye shades and mascaras. Redheads and blondes, from the platinum to the reddish gold, draw green eye shadow and brunettes the purple. Blue eyes can wear the blue. For the conservatives there are new tints in browns and greys.

And for those who secretly yearn for long, cheek-touching eyelashes, they can be had by the box. Their glue-tipped ends are moistened and they are tucked in among the lashes nature gave the wearer.

LIPSTICK MUST MATCH GOWN

Latest Make-up Also Includes Synthetic, Glue-tipped Eyelashes.

Watchful cosmeticians saw early in the season that the lipstick many women had been wearing as "their shades" quarreled with the new fall reds and wines. The outcome was the recommendation that the lip rouge be determined by the color of the dress or accessories, and a half a dozen lipsticks are required on a job formerly done by one.

For the new wine tones a deep raspberry lip coloring is advised. Flame red in the dress or accessories is matched exactly by flame-red lipstick. This shade also goes with green and woody browns, white and black. For pastel evening shades an almost pastel red lipstick is the recommendation.

Medium red is worn with black costumes. Lipsticks with a hint of purple complements dark blue. For the new rust shades there are the light, medium and dark rust-colored lipsticks.

EYE MAKE-UP
Eye make-up also calls for a range of eye shades and mascaras. Redheads and blondes, from the platinum to the reddish gold, draw green eye shadow and brunettes the purple. Blue eyes can wear the blue. For the conservatives there are new tints in browns and greys.

And for those who secretly yearn for long, cheek-touching eyelashes, they can be had by the box. Their glue-tipped ends are moistened and they are tucked in among the lashes nature gave the wearer.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—The Sun reports the death in Paris of the former Justice Minister, James Plak Jr., on January 8, 1912, in one of the most sensational murders in New York's history.

At the time of her death she was Mrs. Helen Josephine Mansfield Reside. A Paris dispatch gave her age as seventy-eight. The Sun says she was probably several years older.

Plak, who had built a house for his wife, his beautiful mistress, was shot on a staircase of the Grand Central Hotel by Stokes, an oil speculator, who had become Plak's partner and had stolen from him.

The shooting was attributed to a jealous enmity between the two men. Stokes was convicted of murder and sentenced to die, but through influences he had formed in association with "Boss" Tweed, he obtained a new trial and escaped with four years in prison.

Joie later went to Paris. She volunteered to testify for Stokes but he refused to permit it.

How French Women Make Up to Last All Day
New Idea From Paris Takes the Bother Out of Make-up.

Awar has been found that not only gives a perfect lip make-up quicker and easier than any way known before, but that HOLDS perfectly all day long.

The creation of Louis Philippe, temperamental French colourist—and about whom all of Paris is talking—it banishes all smearing, all caking and drying.

It is called Angelus Rouge Inarnot and comes as probably the nearest thing to a permanent make-up yet discovered.

You can use it on BOTH LIPS AND CHEEKS. And thus gain a color harmony that's amazing in contrast to using separate lipstick and rouge—both, invariably, of different color.

All department and drug stores have it now under the name of Angelus Rouge Inarnot in two forms: Regular lipstick form, and in the charming "Little Red Box." Most women prefer the box form. A shade for every type and complexion. Same price as American rouges.

Madison Square Garden Makes Wise Move in Hiring Jimmy Johnston

Bustling Promoter Will Inject Life Into Boxing in General

Dempsey, Without His Title, Is Not Drawing the Color Line

Fans Would Refuse to Take a Walker-Garners Bout Seriously

MADISON SQUARE Garden's six hundred millionaires owners apparently knew something when they took in Jimmy Johnston to handle fight promotions for them. And it is a pretty safe bet that when $1,000,000 prize fight gets return Jimmy will be in on them. The Garden gave him the driver's seat the other day, made him a vice-president and told him to go to work and make some matches. Jimmy will move fast in Brooklyn where Johnston was last situated that Madison Square decided they would rather have Jimmy with them than against them.

Jimmy may never become another Tex Rickard. He lacks the imagination and gambling instinct that rocketed Tex to the top. But Jimmy has ideas. And he puts them to work. He knows more about boxing than Rickard ever knew. He knows fighters better than Rickard did. Johnston's first big venture was the jump from Liverpool to New York. In the course of events Jimmy became a prize fighter, because that was about all he knew how to do. He also admits he was pretty good. He also admits there were better ones who convinced him he should use his head instead of his fists.

He started promoting. It mattered little what he promoted. He did everything from pro bike races to bowling matches. But fight promotion was his big bet. Once he advertised in the newspapers for a young man, "over 175 pounds and five feet nine inches tall with heavy right championship policy. No experience necessary." The ad was answered by 5,000 applicants.

Johnston has managed some good fighters too. He piloted Harry Greb, Mickey Walker and Ted "Kid" Lewis when they were champions. He has always been searching for a heavyweight champion. You may recall he pushed Phil Scott into the picture against Sharkey at Miami.

The Garden ought to be busy from now on. Jimmy doesn't like to sit around idle. He jumped back into the promotional field last summer and backed his present bosses with his Brooklyn show. He gave the customers something and made money on it. That's probably the best reason on earth why the Garden wanted him. Those millionaires are anxious to cash a dividend once more. Jimmy says his recipe for success is to give the public what it wants. He claims the public likes to know a fight is on the level.

We notice where Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, is going to engage in a bout with a negro in Des Moines. Jack must have changed since he held the heavyweight title, when he always drew the color line. Larry Gains, negro holder of the British Empire and Canadian heavyweight title, and rated by many critics as the best and heaviest in the division to-day, has been clamoring for bouts with both Dempsey and Schmeling.

Wonder how Mickey Walker would do with Carners. He got a draw with Sharkey and hammered Jack so much that Arthur Donovan, capable referee, gave him his individual verdict, his count showing Mickey leading by several rounds.

It would be funny if the dummy ex-middleweight could whip the giant. Things like that have happened, to date, only in fairy tales, except in one fight in which five feet four inch Bob Mocha thoroughly whipped Joe Cox, a foot taller, who boasted a decision over Jess Willard. Mocha not only gave Cox a boxing lesson, but almost knocked him out. A Walker-Garners bout, however, would be too funny to be taken seriously by the customers, and probably that will bar it, although it would be just like Jack Kearns and Mickey to try to get Carners to show Sharkey up. Mickey isn't attracting as much attention as he deserves on the strength of his fight with Sharkey. The other boys won't give him a chance.

Cudlip's Point In Final Minute Wins Battle For Former

Sinks Free Throw With Only Few Seconds Left to Give Buyats 29 to 28 Victory Over Commercial's in Senior "A" Men's Tussle in Victoria and District Basketball League; One of Best Games in Years; Saanich and Harmony Girls Win

Scoring a foul shot with forty-five seconds to play, Alec Cudlip gave the Buyats a 29 to 28 victory over the Commercial's in yesterday evening's senior "A" men's basketball game played at the High School gymnasium. The win puts Norm Forbes and his Buyats in a tie with the Commercial's for first place in the senior division of the Victoria and District Basketball League. In the opening game of the card Saanich defeated the Normal School 40 to 18 in a senior "B" men's game, while in the other encounter the Harmony girls downed the J.B.A.A. 27 to 14.

HIS BASKET WON

ALEX. CUDLIP
Snappy forward of the Buyats, who scored a free shot in the last sixty seconds of play to give his team a 29 to 28 victory over the Commercial's in a terrific senior "A" men's basketball game at the High School gym yesterday evening. The Buyats, by their win, moved up on to even terms with the Commercial's for first place.

THIRD MEMBER OF TRIO SIGNS WITH MAROONS

Earl Robinson of Windsor's "Dynamite Trio" With Montreal N.H.L. Club

Maroons Had Previously Signed Haynes and Duguid; Cleghorn's Plans Unknown

Montreal, Que., Oct. 29. — Earl Robinson, goal-getting right wing, yesterday was signed to a Montreal Maroon contract for the 1931-32 National Hockey League season. Enrolment of Robinson completes Maroon's acquisition of the three players who earned for themselves the title of the "dynamite trio" in the International Hockey League last winter, and led Windsor Bulldogs, Maroon's farm-club, to the championship of that circuit.

Paul Haynes, who jumped to professional ranks with Maroons at the beginning of last winter and was later sent down to Windsor for seasoning, and Lorne Duguid, who signed direct with Bulldogs in mid-season last year and instantly became a star, penned their names to Maroon contracts for the coming campaign recently.

Whether or not Manager Sprague Cleghorn intends to use these three men in the same compact form they played last year as an unbroken trio with Haynes at centre, Robinson on right wing, and Duguid on left, is not yet known.

Waivers Withdrawn

Detroit, Oct. 29. — Reg. Noble, veteran senior team, upon whom the Detroit Falcons management asked waivers Monday, will play hockey for Detroit this season after all.

The first half of the senior game opened with play going from one end of the floor to the other, and the Commercial's opened the scoring on a pretty basket by Jones shortly after the start. Scoring then came rapidly, and with only three minutes of the half left, the Buyats were on the long end of an 18 to 11 score. In the remaining playing time, the Commercial's came to life and before the rest whistle sounded had drawn up to within two points of their opponents' total, leaving the count at 18 to 16 in the Buyats' favor. Lynn Patrick was in rare form during this half, scoring four pretty baskets that were mainly responsible for the Buyats' lead.

TWO PLAYERS OFF
With the commencement of the second half the Buyats lost Patrick on four personals with Engelson of the Commercial's following him to the bench. The Commercial's had previously lost Mike Patrick in the first half. Play was travelling at a very fast clip, and the Buyats, with three minutes left to play, were leading 28 to 22 when Tom Little, scoring ace in previous games, came to life, took two long passes from Chapman and converted them while Chapman himself added one from centre. The crowd was in a frenzy, for with a tie score and only slightly under a minute left to play, it seemed that overtime would be needed to break the deadlock. With Cudlip and Cudlip under the hoop and Rose watching the latter, a pass was sent through to Cudlip for what looked like the winning basket. But Rose dove across the floor and fouled Cudlip. After both players had revived, Cudlip took his position to shoot, and with the game resting on his shot, converted.

The game was one of the fastest ever witnessed on a local floor, and with these teams meeting several times this season, some great battles are anticipated.

The teams and individual scores follow:
Buyats—MacDonald, Cudlip (1), Cudlip (6), Forbes (2), Patrick (10), Sheppard (2), McKenzies (4), Brown and Jones (4).
Commercial's—Craig (5), Jones (6), Engelson (4), Chapman (5), Patrick (2), Rose and Little (6).

WIN EASILY
Scoring rapidly in the second half, after having gained a nine-point lead in the first half, Saanich turned in an easy win over Normal School. Ralph Mitchell and Pete Turgose were shooting well, and with Bill Turgose and Bagley adding baskets with timely regularity, the Saanich boys were never in trouble.

The teams and individual scores follow:
Saanich—Mitchell (13), Smith (4), Tanner (2), Bagley (4), W. Turgose (8), P. Turgose (8) and Ruttan.
Normal—Akinhead (3), Watson, Wood, Evans, Monk (5), Foubister, Wallace (1), McInnes and Robinson.

Staging a second half rally, the Harmony came through to a victory in their exhibition game against the J.B.A.A. In the first half the Bays held their opponents even at 11 to 11, but in the final two quarters the Harmony stepped away to win handsily.

The teams and individual scores follow:
Harmony—Alexander (5), D. Perry (7), M. Hall, M. Purdy, E. Matthews (11), B. Armstrong, E. McWilliams and B. Macmurelle (4).
J.B.A.A.—L. Sparks (7), E. Midgely, A. Lalonde, J. Anderson, G. Taylor (1), M. Spark (2), I. Crawford (1), K. Freestone (3) and K. Luckovitch.

HUDSON'S BAY HAND GARRISON FIRST SETBACK

Departmentals Tie Up Wednesday Football League Lead By 2 to 1 Victory

Jock Stewart Scores Winning Goal; Saanich United and Navy in 2 to 2 Tie

Scoring a 2 to 1 victory over the Garrison at the Beacon Hill grounds yesterday afternoon the Hudson's Bay tied up the standing for first place in the Wednesday Football League. The Bays and Tommies are in a deadlock with four points apiece. Yesterday's defeat was the first of the season for the Work Point eleven. At the Royal Athletic Park Saanich United came to life to hold the Navy eleven to a 2 to 2 deadlock.

In the match at Beacon Hill the Bays were forced to play throughout the first half with only ten men, but managed to hold off the strong offensive of the Garrison, while ten minutes before the interval John Taylor, outside right, scored for the Bays. No further scoring was seen before the rest period.

BAYS AT STRENGTH
With the start of the second half, Jock Stewart appeared to bring the Bays up to full strength. The Bays continued to remain on the attack, but were unable to get by the Garrison defence. The Tommies finally carried play to the other end of the field, and Edwards beat Shrimpton for the tying goal. The winning goal came from the toe of Jock Stewart, who took a pass from Don Fish to beat Glendenning with a shot to the corner.

The teams were as follows:
Hudson's Bay—Shrimpton, Mackenzie, Armstrong, Oakman, Woodley, Cull, Newell, Small, Stewart, Fish and Taylor.

Garrison—Glendenning, Lindsay, Buxton, McAllister, Scanlon, Henderson, Bundock, H. Richard, S. Richard, Edwards and Forbes.
A fine goal by Toby with only two minutes left to play, gave Saanich a draw with the Navy. The sailors had a distinct edge in both halves, but the Saanich players fought hard all the way and refused to be beaten.

The only goal of the first half was scored by Moir who took a pass from Toby to put Saanich in the lead. The Navy held the edge until the half-time whistle, but bungled many fine chances to even matters.

NAVY THE SCORE
Twenty minutes after the start of the second half the Navy got back onto even terms when Thwaites beat Bova after the goalie had let Cosier's shot get away from him. Three minutes from the Navy went into the lead when Cosier scored. With a Navy victory apparent Toby took the ball centre and went through him, self to beat Barker and tie up the score.

The teams follow:
Navy—Barker, Whyte, Hibbert, Roberts, Robinson, Pittall, Cosier, Cockrell, Walker, Thwaites and Wilson.
Saanich United—Bova, Price, Wyatt, Stonier, Lowe, M. Spellar, Brown, Ward, Moir, McNaughton and Toby.

Noble Star Wins Jockey Club Cup At Newmarket

Newmarket, England, Oct. 29. — F. H. Candell's good four-year-old Noble Star by Hapsburg out of Hester won the Jockey Club Cup this afternoon by two lengths over the Aga Khan's four-year-old Ut Majur. The Aga Khan's three-year-old Khorseed came in third, another two lengths back.

Noble Star started at even odds, Ut Majur at even and Khorseed at 33 to 1. The race was over the two and a quarter-mile distance, the same as the earlier Cesarewitch, and only the three horses ran. Firdausi, running in the colors of the Aga Khan, led home a field of six in the Dewhurst Stakes for two-year-olds. A short head behind was E. Emond's short-hand, The Marquis De Sanniquet's Corolario was third, beaten four lengths.

Firdausi, handsome chestnut colt by Pharus out of Brown-Hylda was quoted at 11 to 10. Both Shortland and Corolario were quoted at 6 to 1.

H. STODDART
Peppy centre-half of the New Westminster Royals, Canadian soccer champions, who will appear here on Saturday afternoon when the Royals meet the Victoria "rep" team in an exhibition game at the Royal Athletic Park.

Volunteer Fans At Bull Fights Reprimanded

Barcelona, Spain, Oct. 29. — Angueta de Soto, franchised governor of Barcelona, has ordered all bull fight fans who insist on leaping into the ring for a round with the bull themselves to be "imprisoned" in their homes on bull fight days.

These volunteer fans, called "ex-pontones," often were badly gored. Their hope was that if they came out safe the fight manager would offer them a contract.

Ordinary fines and jail sentences did not stop the practice, so the governor invented thirty-day sentences in the homes, and the only days that count in serving the term are bullfight days.

Major League Ball Players Are Nearly Mobbed By Japanese

Members of Party to Make Barnstorming Tour Given Great Reception Upon Arrival in Land of Cherry Blossoms; Eager Crowds Engulf Players as They Ride Through Streets of Tokio; Create Traffic Jams; Grove, Cochrane, Frisch and Frank O'Doul in Party

Tokio, Oct. 29. — Fourteen major and minor league baseball stars from America were nearly mobbed by eager Japanese fans upon their arrival here to-day for a barnstorming tour of the empire.

Arriving in Yokohama on the liner Tatsuta Maru the players were greeted by enormous crowds. The ship arrived eight hours late, having been delayed by the tail end of a typhoon which proved the baseball players were not all good sailors in rough weather.

A special train brought the Americans to Tokio, where they were met by the mayor at the station. On being driven through the Ginza, principal downtown street in open cars, they were engulfed in a mob of Japanese eager to shake their hands.

TRAFFIC JAMS
Several traffic jams resulted and reserve police had to be called so the way could be cleared for the cars to move on to a hotel.

The major leaguers are Lou Gehrig, Lefty Grove, Frank Frisch, Mickey Cochrane, Al Simmons, Willie Kamm, Frank O'Doul, Walter Maraville, Larry French, Muddy Ruel, Bruce Cunningham and Tom Oliver. Ralph Shimmers and George Kelly are the minor leaguers. The American party, including Jack Reardon, umpire; the wives of several players and the manager and trainer, numbers twenty-nine. They will play twelve games with Japanese teams.

SENIOR RUGBY MAY START ON NOVEMBER 14

Royal Athletic Park Closed to English Code Men Until That Date

Union Regrets Lateness of Opening; May Hamper Chances of Local "Rep" Men

Although a definite date for the opening of the local Senior Rugby League will not be made known until after a special meeting to-morrow evening, indications point to November 14 as the most probable day for initial clashes. That is the first date on which the union can secure the Royal Athletic Park.

In suggesting this at the meeting yesterday evening, members said it would not conflict with the Canadian rugby match, scheduled for a week Saturday, the day on which the league was originally scheduled to open. An effort to secure the Royal Athletic for a match on November 14 had been futile, members said, stating the soccer officials had secured the grounds for that date.

Under the union wishes to open play with games on a pitch other than the Royal Athletic, it appeared November 14 would be the earliest date on which it could get the schedule under way.

BIG OPENING PLANNED
Plans were discussed for a grand opening ceremony with bands from the Fifth Regiment and the Canadian Scottish, rivals in one of the initial fixtures, in attendance. Other features were also under consideration for the gala opening.

On the same day the Oak Bay Wanderers are scheduled to play the James Bay Athletic Association, but no grounds have been settled upon.

Some regret was voiced over the lateness of proposed opening, as it would give Victorians, seeking places on the Canadian team, which will tour Japan in January, very little time to get in shape and develop their team play.

TRYOUTS DECEMBER 12
Tryouts for the squad are scheduled to be held in Vancouver on December 12, when an Island team meets a mainland squad in a test match.

Moreover, the Victorians have the same apprehension over the city's chances in McGeorge's play on the same grounds. With the first inter-city series fixture slated for December 26, the squads in the local loop would have seven games under their belts before taking on the terminus representatives, who have been preparing already for several weeks.

Bob Travis, Doug Roberts, Bob McInnes and Harold Penderay were named to form a selection committee for all local "rep" squads.

FIFTH NAMES TEAM TO MEET SCOTS' SQUAD
In preparation for their match with the Canadian Scottish at Oak Bay Park on Saturday members of the inter-mediate Fifth Brigade rugby team will hold a workout at the Armories to-morrow evening at 8.30 o'clock.

BADMINTON CLUBS WILL START PLAY

Teams in Fourth Division Will Usher in Season To-night With Three Games

First Division Clubs to Start Week Saturday; Island Tour Has Been Arranged

Opening matches in the Lower Island Badminton League will be staged to-night with three games in the fourth division. The third division will get under way on Saturday, while the first division will get away to a start a week from Saturday.

To-night's matches will see five of the new clubs in action. At the First Baptist Church the Alpha Club will entertain the Beavers, whose courts are at the Crystal Garden. Both are newcomers to the league. St. Lukes will be at home to the J.B.A.A. squad at the Fairview Hall, while Hillcrest No. 1 will play its first match when they meet the Lake Hill squad at the Rex Hall, Esquimalt. On Saturday Christ Church will be at home to the T.M.C.A. team. After Saturday the league will have games scheduled regularly through the week in the various divisions.

Duncan will be at home to the strong Duncan squad, one week from Saturday at the Armories, while the same night the Duncan second team, champions of the last season, will be opposing the Willows second division team. While the definite schedule has not been released, the opening games have been arranged.

DUNCAN WEAKENED
Duncan's champion first division team, winners for the last two years, will not be up to their usual strength. They have lost Marjorie Leeming, Anna Birch and Marion Pitts. The absence of Birch will break up the best doubles combination on the island, that of Eric Leamy and Birch. Partly balancing up the short side, the two other players will be Duncan's new recruits, Miss Blythe, Mrs. Purvey and Mrs. Ancell.

Garrison's first team will not be as weak as in previous years, and although not picked will be selected from the following: Drennan Hince, Hugo Rayment, Ross Hocking, Don Campbell, Major Chambers, Major Gibson, Bert Plett, Edgar Woods, Mona Miller, Florence Oates, Helen Nicholson, Marion Pitts, Mrs. O'Brien, Miss Helen Wilson and Mrs. Quanten.

The Willows with a number of new players are an unknown quantity. The nucleus of the team is built around Paul and Peter Phillips, holders of the city doubles championships. George Phillips and Harry Webb are to be next in line, with Teddy Simons, Pat Colclough, Bill Peterson and Logan, all first team possibilities. Their women players appear to be stronger than in former years, with most of their last year's team available. Mrs. McDonald, Miss Dorothy Morley, Miss Marjorie and Isabel Benson, Maxine Ewart and Mrs. Mangin, Kelowna, are the most likely regulars.

ISLAND TEAM ARRANGED
With twenty-nine teams in the league badminton will be in the lime-light throughout the winter months. C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, who success fully organized the Crusaders last year, announces he has arranged with three up-land clubs for a two-day team match at three up-land centres. The touring players will appear at Royton or Courtenay on Saturday, and will play at Port Alberni and Nanaimo the following day.

Metropolitan Team Wins at Badminton

SAYS ENGLAND IS WAKING UP

Attorney-General Pooley Declares Election Result Is
Lesson to Empire

He Sees Prosperity For B.C.;
Esquimalt Conservatives
Elect Officers

Predictions of an early return to prosperous conditions were made by Attorney-General Pooley in his address at the annual meeting of the Esquimalt Conservative Association yesterday evening. He pointed to the result of the British elections as a lesson to the empire, showing what Britain can do in times of necessity, and pointing to the dawn of a new confidence.

"You will find England is now going to look after herself, and to put a stop to ruinous dumping," said a Attorney-General.

"England is waking up. She will be no longer the dumping ground for all nations, but will be in a position to protect herself against Russian goods made under corrupt conditions and sold at prices that returned no yield to their makers."

"Now we will have trade with the empire, and British Columbia stands to gain much by the change. Our lumber, our fish and our minerals will again find a market under the impulse of the new desire for empire trade."

He declared it significant that in spite of all the Communist propaganda in England, not one Communist or Socialist was returned to Parliament.

Telling of the Calgary conference of western provinces, he said British Columbians had moved to and the westward flow of transients to the Coast for the mild winter weather.

LIQUOR SAVINGS

Dealing with his Liquor Board administration, the Attorney-General said the Liquor Board was now employing thirty-one fewer persons with a payroll of $4,000 less. He told how the burglary insurance cost on liquor stores had been reduced from the premium of $27,000 a year to $12,000.

LAND SETTLEMENT COSTS

As for T. D. Pattullo, leader of the Liberal opposition, the Attorney-General said that under his land policies in South Okanagan, Sumas, Merville and Creston, 400 people had been settled on the land at a cost of $30,000 each.

Officers elected by the association for the year were: Capt. S. R. Bowden, president; Alexander Lockley, vice-president; David Henry, secretary;
treasurer: executive committee, Mr.
S. R. Bowden, Mrs. C. A. Smith,
Charles H. Smith, Thomas Hadfield,
Robert Dent, E. V. Finland, D. R.
Barker, Benjamin Jacklin, Major J. A.
P. Crompton and Mrs. Booth.

GANDHI FORMS TOPIC OF TALK

Rise of Indian Leader Traced
in Address to College
Students

Murray G. Brookes, general secretary for the Student Christian Movement in Canada, addressed the student body of Victoria College yesterday afternoon on Mahatma Gandhi.

"There are three dominating figures in world affairs to-day," Mr. Brookes said: "Stalin of Russia, Benito Mussolini of Italy and Mahatma Gandhi, the wisdom, frail little man who controls
the future of India."

EARLY LIFE
During the Zulu Rebellion and Boer War, Mr. Brookes said, Gandhi was frequently mentioned in dispatches for his bravery. In 1914 Gandhi formed an ambulance corps among the college students in India, as he was barred from fighting by the medical board. It was chiefly due to the efforts of Gandhi and his friends that India was able to send 1,500,000 men to the front. It was through his work in the war that he got the title of Mahatma,
"Great Soul," from the populace.

The speaker described the beginning of the non-co-operative movement.
After being jailed for two years in connection with this movement, Gandhi turned his attention to India's social life. "Through his efforts the 'untouchables' are not looked down upon as they were formerly, and they are receiving rights which have been denied them for centuries."

Mr. Brookes described Gandhi's recent activities, leading up to the Round-Table Conference.

PERSONAL CHARM

"What he wants he will finally get."
So far he has not failed," the lecturer stated. "Gandhi is a man of great personal charm."

TEXTILE SHRINKAGE NOW CONTROLLED BY MACHINERY

Kitchener, Oct. 29.—Announcement is made by Cluett, Peabody and Co.
of Canada Limited, that early in 1932
the first Sanforizing machine will be in operation in Canada. A machine has been ordered from Sir James Farmer Norton and Co. of Manchester, England, probably the world's largest makers of textile machinery, and will be erected under supervision of Cluett,
Peabody engineers.

Sanforizing is a mechanical shrinking process that completely controls shrinkage in both length and width of cotton cloth. Textile experts regard Sanforizing as one of the three great improvements made to cotton fabrics, ranking it in importance with vatdyeing and mercerizing. It was created by and named after Sanford
Cluett, vice-president of Cluett, Peabody and Co., incorporated, and brought up to its present perfection in the Troy factory of that company. Machines are built and operated under license agreements with the patent owners, and the major textile producing countries are now adopting this invention.
The complete range of washable cotton goods such as shirts, ladies' wear, children's clothing and thousands of other articles are affected.

spending a holiday here as the guest of R. H. Wood and his daughters.

"I WONDER if I'm losing my husband's love?
A few months ago I wouldn't have dreamed that he'd become careless about shaving. Surely he'd resent it if I neglected my appearance. Is it possible he doesn't realize how repulsive a growth of stubble can be? And if his beard is distasteful to me, I can just imagine what the people around the office think. Here he is going off to work, and he hasn't shaved since last night. He continually finds some excuse for neglect. He tells me he hasn't the time, or his face is too tender and he can't buy good razor blades. Well, maybe he's right. But even if it is a nuisance, I should think he'd care enough for me to shave more carefully and more often."

Today there's no excuse for stubble. A while ago close and frequent shaving may have been decidedly unpleasant—particularly so for men with tender skin. Now Gillette is offering a new and decidedly better blade that skims through beard without a trace of harshness or irritation. It is remarkably keen—especially made for sensitive faces. Learn how comfortable shaving can be. Buy a package of Gillette blades on our positive money-back guarantee.
Try a blade or two. Prove to your own satisfaction that the new Gillette is a far finer and smoother-shaving blade, or return the package to your dealer and he'll refund the purchase price.

Old Dutch says:

Use Old Dutch—it is the safe, sure way to Healthful Cleanliness. To be sure of Healthful Cleanliness the invisible impurities which are often a menace to health, must also be removed with the visible dirt.

This is what Old Dutch does; its particles possess natural detergent qualities—they erase the dirt and by a process similar to "adsorption" take up and carry away all impurities.

Special to The Times
Cumberland, Oct. 29.—A convention of Sunday School workers for Vancouver Island, north of Parkville, was held on Friday afternoon last in St. George's United Church, Courtenay, under the auspices of the Religious Education Council of Canada. The convention was under the leadership of the Rev. E. N. McLean, M.A., general secretary of the Religious Education Council in British Columbia, and Miss Anne Fountain, girls' work secretary, of Vancouver. Commencing at 2:30 o'clock, the afternoon was devoted to the consideration of home religion, primary and junior work. Supper was served at the church, followed by a session on superintendents' work, and later by discussion groups

On Saturday afternoon a grand rally of boys' and girls' organizations in the district was held, attended by some 105 girls and seventy-five boys. The girls under Miss Fountain met in the United Church and the boys under the Rev. Mr. McLean, in the Parish Hall. ## Made specially for BABIES and CHILDREN

Physicians tell us that one condition is nearly always present when a child has a digestive upset, a starting cold or other little ailment.

Constipation! When little bowels get clogged, body wastes accumulate, and poisons and infection find a fertile breeding place.

The first step towards relief is to rid the body of impure wastes. And for this, nothing is better than genuine time-proven Castoria!

Castoria is a pure vegetable preparation made specially for babies and children. This means it is mild and gentle enough for their delicate organs. Yet it is always effective.

REMEMBRANCE PLAN PRAISED

Fitting Tribute to Those Who Fell in World War, Says Premier

An appeal to citizens to join in ceremonies to be held on November 11 in memory of those who fell in the World War has been made by Premier T. B. Pattison. Expressing approval of the plans of the Canadian Legion to mark Remembrance Day the Premier says: "The Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League has called the attention of the government to the fact that November 11 has now been definitely designated as Remembrance Day by the federal parliament.

"The Legion is anxious to see this, the first Remembrance Day fittingly observed, for the definite purpose for which it was set aside. It has asked the government of British Columbia, as it has requested the governments of the other provinces, to assist in placing a suitable wreath, made in the Vet-Craft workshops, on every memorial in the province.

"The government looks with favor on the scheme and has promised to co-operate with the Legion in its efforts.

FIRST TO BE HONORED
"The government feels that the people of the province, in their respective communities, would desire to reserve for themselves the privilege and honor of supplying the wreaths and seeing that they are fittingly laid on the memorials which they themselves have erected, and it takes this opportunity of reminding the people of the province that November 11 will be the first Remembrance Day to be honored in Canada.

"The government has given the necessary directions so that on Remembrance Day the memorials on the grounds and in the rotunda of the Parliament Buildings at Victoria will be decorated as suggested.

"As Premier of British Columbia I should like to suggest that citizens of all those communities in which war memorials exist do their part in carrying out the programme enunciated by the Legion by obtaining Vet-Craft wreaths, and with fitting ceremony, and thankful remembrance, lay them at the feet of their several memorials to our glorious dead.

"Thus shall we, as a people, not only cherish the memory of those who died, but we shall be helping, in a very practical way, many of our brave and maimed soldiers who are doing their best in very adverse circumstances to earn a livelihood for themselves."

Directs Many Tourists Here
Charlotte Burney, touring director of the National Automobile Club, Sees Victoria
Travels on Ss. California With Kathleen Fitzgerald of U.S. Veterans' Hospital

Charlotte Burney, director of touring department of the National Automobile Club of Los Angeles, is in Victoria on a holiday and is looking over the city, to which she has directed thousands of tourists. She is accompanied by Kathleen Fitzgerald, secretary of the U.S. Veterans' hospital at Palo Alto, Cal.

They came north from San Francisco aboard the Italian steamer California, of the Libera Line, and are registered at the Dominion Hotel.

In her publicity capacity with the National Automobile Club, which has a membership of 75,000 in seven western states, Miss Burney has been instrumental in sending a large number of motor parties to Vancouver Island for several seasons. She has probably directed more motorists to Victoria than any other publicity agency in Los Angeles.

TAKES WORK AS PLEASURE
"I get most of my pleasure in sending people on their vacations in the summer and now I am taking a vacation myself," she said to-day in explaining her presence in Victoria at such a late season of the year. "We are having a splendid time and are sorry that we cannot remain longer to get better acquainted with this fine city and its beautiful surroundings."

"Although we are very loyal to our own state of California, we are ready to admit that you have a mild climate and the people here are fine. We are greatly taken with your wonderful parks here. You don't have to plant them and put a tag on them to advise people that they are parks. Everybody ought to appreciate what nature has done for them here. I don't know what made me choose this spot for a vacation. The fact is, I believe I have been talking so much about Victoria that I had to come and see what it was like. The freshness of everything and the greenery everywhere makes this place very attractive even at this time of the year."

Ladysmith

Ladysmith, Oct. 29.—To celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the order, the Knights and Pythian Sisters held a banquet in the Foresters' Hall Tuesday evening, and for the occasion the hall had been beautifully decorated in the lodge colors of blue, red, yellow and white. Between seventy-five and a hundred were present, and a most enjoyable time was spent at community singing, and house-house and court whist. The winners at cards were: Ladies' first, Mrs. M. Davies; second, Miss Annie Sanderson; gentlemen's first, J. Stewart; second, Mrs. R. P. Battie (substitute). The toasts to the visitors were proposed by Mrs. J. Harris, and was responded to by S. Guthrie, and the toast to the Pythian Sisters was proposed by J. Harris.

A surprise masquerade party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Battie, Victoria Road, Saturday evening in honor of the birthday of A. A. "Dinty" Moore of Nanaimo. Prizes at cards were won by: Ladies' first, T. Battie, as "Susie"; consolation, Miss Muriel Moore; gentlemen's first, Mrs. T. Battie as "Jack"; consolation, Mrs. J. Conti as "Annie Rooney." The prize for the best costume was won by Mrs. A. Mattie Br., who was dressed as a clown. Later in the evening the guest of honor was presented with a gift, and following the serving of refreshments dancing was enjoyed.

Cuticura Healed Large, Hard Pimples Scattered Over Face.

"I had pimples and blackheads scattered all over my face. The pimples were large, hard and red, would hurt for a few days and then go away. My face usually was very itchy before a pimple formed. This went on for about one and a half years.

"I saw Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertised so sent for a free sample of each. I used them and then purchased a box of the Ointment and a cake of the Soap and in about two or three weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Kathryn T. Dobka, Oshawa, Ont., Sept. 11, 1930.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25c and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address Canadian Depot: J. T. Webb Company Limited, Montreal.

DEATH SENTENCE IS APPEALED

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Oct. 29.—Through his counsel, J. H. Nicholson, retained by the John Howard Society, Karl Frederick, who is under sentence of death for murder, informed the B.C. Court of Appeal here to-day he was appealing from the conviction.

Frederick was found guilty at the recent Prince George assizes of the murder in June, 1930, near Tremblour Lake, of Miss Westall. He was sentenced to death by Mr. Justice Fisher, who fixed December 3 for the execution.

Mr. Nicholson was engaged to apply for a writ of habeas corpus to the court's sitting at Victoria in January. The application was stood over till Friday, when A. M. Johnson, K.C., will appear for the prosecution.

Frederick proposes to conduct his appeal in person.

VERNON TO HAVE SIX NEW STORES

Vernon, B.C., Oct. 29.—Excavation for the construction of three more stores on Harrison Avenue here was under way to-day. The stores are on the north side of Harrison Avenue, and this makes six stores and offices under construction on Harrison Avenue.

Cyril Parkhurst, the owner of the property and has engaged the Dominion Construction Company to erect a building with seventy-five feet frontage and eighty feet depth. The building is to be a single story, and the cost is $17,000. Under the terms of the contract the building is to be completed by the middle of December. The building will house three stores.

CO-ORDINATION NECESSITY TO ALL SCIENCES

Best Results Obtained Only When Co-operation Shown, Rotary Club Told

Prof. H. M. King Hopes to See Best Methods of Europeans Used in British Columbia

In the field of science co-ordination was of the utmost importance, in agriculture this fact was particularly evident and if British Columbia sought to bring its agriculture to the highest point, it would have to combine the leading features of the industry as practiced in other parts of the world. These views were expressed by Prof. H. M. King of the Department of Animal Husbandry at the University of British Columbia, in an address before the Rotary Club at its luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

On the fertile Pacific slope he hoped to see the best of the methods of Scotch breeding introduced, along with the Dutch precision and cleanliness, the Norman French and Russian theory of eugenics, the Italian system of laying out land and the efficiency of Canadian and United States agricultural leaders.

"Science, in a very broad way, is divided into two fields—that which is pure and that which is applied," Prof. King stated. "Although the study of pure science is a field in itself, it is useless to the community unless it is applied to practical problems."

To be successful in this field a man had to be well informed in both pure and applied science, he declared. It was a fact, he stated, that specialists in one of the subdivisions of science had accumulated data which had been found valuable since the investigators had carried out their work without a general knowledge of science on which to base their discoveries.

Illustrating the connection between pure science and animal husbandry, he stated that the milk recently revealed that bacteriological action was responsible for different flavors. Hence, a matter which appeared to be a matter of taste was really one for the specialized bacteriologist, the man in the pure science field.

ALL TYPES NEEDED
In investigations at the University of British Columbia, all types of scientists were required to work, under good management, in order to bring about the best results.

While trying to determine the cause of sterility in the milk, he had been necessary for his staff to find the normal condition of the average animal.

For this work, veterinarians, pure scientists, applied scientists, biologists, physiological chemists and food specialists had been brought together. And through their study and experimentation, the staff had been able to eliminate individual, he declared. The scientist needed other studies than those stressed particularly in his own field. He had to be a generalist and many other subjects were of great value to him, he said.

Percy Watson, president of the club, moved a vote of thanks to the speaker.

REORGANIZE ST. GEORGE SOCIETY

Special Committee For Purpose Chosen at Annual Meeting Yesterday Evening

Plans for reorganization were effected at the annual meeting of the St. George Society, held yesterday evening at the Alexandra Club, this decision following a discussion of the various causes contributing to a decline of interest in the society. H. Langley, president, was in the chair.

The discussion culminated in a resolution moved by Howard Chapman and seconded by Mrs. B. G. Ruddock, that steps be taken toward reorganization and a special committee was formed to deal with the following personnel: Dean C. S. Quainton, convener; Mayor Anson, W. J. Alder, E. B. Bagshaw, Dr. A. F. Barton, A. K. G. Cornhill, Mrs. B. G. Ruddock, Mrs. F. B. Parsons and Mrs. Alfred Hallam. This committee is asked to report at an early date, when officers will be elected and plans made for the coming year.

H. Langley, who has held the office of president for the last two years, was accorded a very warm vote of thanks for the splendid enthusiasm which he had shown in trying to promote the welfare of the society. Reference was also made to the splendid ability which he had shown in the respective capacities of publicity manager and secretary.

On behalf of the society, Mrs. F. H. Parsons made a presentation of appreciation for her services during the last seven years, as accomplished.

Mr. Langley made a presentation to the retiring secretary, Alfred Hallam, whose resignation was accepted at the last meeting, and the financial secretary, W. G. Barnes.

Fraud Conspiracy Charge Withdrawn

Vancouver, Oct. 29.—A charge of conspiracy to defraud the United States Fidelity and Guarantee Company of the Trocadero Cafe, Vancouver, was withdrawn before Judge J. A. McDonald and George Findlay Lawson was withdrawn before Judge J. A. Findlay in city police court to-day.

The charge arose out of an alleged conspiracy on the part of the three men to defraud the insurance company following a hold-up of Megalos and the alleged theft of $447 on the night of September 5.

McDonald and Lawson still face a charge of robbery with violence as a result of the hold-up, while McDonald faces an additional charge of extortion.

Bull Attacks Elderly Man; Leg Broken

William Stewart, West Saanich Road, had the misfortune to celebrate his sixty-ninth birthday in hospital to-day. He was attacked by a bull at Hagen's ranch.

Mr. Stewart sustained a broken leg and cuts about the head and face when the bull rushed into him, using its head to knock him down. He escaped further injury, however, and was brought to the St. Joseph's Hospital in a C. & C. ambulance, Dr. P. M. Bryant attending him.

CHURCH TEACHERS ATTEND CLASSES

Enrolment Increases For the Second Day's Sessions of Leadership Training School

Announcement was made by the registrars of the Leadership Training School, now in session at the Memorial Hall, that twenty-five city and district churches represented in the enrolment of 180 workers attending the seven study classes. Officers of the school confidently expect to reach the 300 mark at to-night's sessions.

Rev. H. F. Baird, principal of the opening worship period last night and based his comments on Psalm xcii 13, Rev. Bruce Gray, director of the school, presided. The special Bible study course, conducted by Principal J. G. Brown, of Union College, Vancouver, was attended by nearly fifty teachers and Bible students. Dr. Brown went back into Old Testament history, showing the preparation made by the prophets for the introduction of the Christian message. To-night he will develop that theme in the history of the Christian Church.

YOUTH PROGRAMME

Under the leadership of Rev. E. R. McLean, representative young people are making a critical study of the youth programme of the church, while leaders in boys' work, under Rev. J. H. A. Watt, are considering the practical problems relating to the "teen-age boy." Increased classroom accommodation is necessary to provide for the large number of workers on the subject. The junior child, under direction of Mrs. W. W. McGill, the classes conducted by J. H. McLean for primary teachers and for girls' leaders, under Anne A. Colverson, proved extremely interesting to over six hundred students.

Officers of the school expressed their pleasure in the success attending the new course conducted by Desmond M. Simpson, on the subject of "Religion in the Home," and also the superintendent forum, which will hold a second session next Wednesday.

An interesting feature of the school is the book exhibit of John G. Simpson.

To-night at 7.30 o'clock Murray Brooks, general secretary of the Student Christian Movement in Canada, and a visitor in Victoria, will conduct the brief devotional service at the opening of the school.

ESQUIMALT RURAL NURSING SERVICE

The annual meeting of the Esquimalt Rural Nursing Service, held in Colwood Hall, Monday evening, drew a representative gathering from Langford, Colwood, Goldstream, Luxton and Happy Valley.

The president, W. G. Couchman, presented a report of the year's activities. Mr. Couchman stated that the association had already taken place. The first change was the retirement of Dr. Irene Bastow Hudson, medical advisor to the Esquimalt Rural Nursing Service, who has severed her connection with the district and consequently with the nursing association. Dr. Kingsley Terry of Victoria has been appointed in her stead.

Mr. Couchman also stated he had in hand the resignation of Miss H. G. Kelly, R.N., nurse in charge, which the association accepted with a great deal of regret.

The secretary-treasurer presented the financial statement, showing receipts of $2,062.25, made up of fees, $839; government grants, $1,180; tax receipts, $513.07; miscellaneous, $50.18; money on hand at last annual meeting, $182.92. The expenditures amounted to $2,164.77, leaving a balance on hand of $90.43.

The officers elected for the year are as follows: Honorary president, Dr. H. G. Kelly; president, W. G. Couchman; first vice-president, Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen; second vice-president, Mrs. M. L. Parsons; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. C. Brown; auditor, W. F. Dinning; medical advisor to the council, Dr. Kingsley Terry, Victoria; council, Longford, W. T. Dixon, Dr. D. B. F. Bullen, Miss L. A. Savory, Goldstream, W. G. Couchman, Esquimalt, Harold Cairns, Esquimalt, MacKenzie, Esquimalt, and representatives of Colwood, Luxton, Happy Valley, Albert Head and Sooke were also invited to take part in the council in an advisory capacity.

Refreshments were served.

It was formed following numerous requests to the supervisor from people wishing to study this subject. Eleven definite registrations have been secured and the class is expected to be double this in size.

APPLE MEN SEE BETTER MARKET

Canadian Press
Vernon, B.C., Oct. 29.—The apple situation has improved very materially during the last week or ten days and it would now appear as if there would be a general tendency to stiffen prices. Values have already advanced from 10 to 15 cents a box on packed fruit and from 5 to 10 cents on bulk, from $25 a ton to $30.

There has been a fair volume of orders from eastern Canada for Delicious and the information respecting export markets is more encouraging. Growers hope the election in Great Britain will clarify the exchange situation and stimulate the apple business in that country.

While there are fairly heavy supplies of apples still in storage, the quantities which shippers are holding now are considerably less than those of last year and from now until spring there should be a steady movement to the primary market, as the jobbers have not been buying any apples for storage purposes.

The onion situation does not show much sign of improvement, and there still appears to be ample quantities at the very low values.

The crop is now all under cover and many of the packing houses are closing down. Some are retaining a quantity of apples loose and these may be packed if the demand warrants.

Nursery Building At Park Completed

At a cost of $3,800, a new administration building in Beacon Hill Park nursery has just been completed and is now in use.

The new structure is finished in a lot and unusual shingle effect and is a handsome addition to the park equipment. It includes a large storage room, a workshop and office and a special frost proof basement for plants as well as an upper section for storage purposes.

General improvements have been made around the nursery lately and men are now at work repairing the glass in the greenhouse, which will hold an unusually large number of plants this winter.

Britain Evidently Feared Invasion in the Fifties, Says Edgar H. Hall of London

Edgar H. Hall, who represents the British construction firm of Baldry, Yerburgh and Hutchinson Limited, is interested in several prospective contracts in the Pacific northwest, including one at Portland, Ore. He stated to-day at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Hall's firm specializes in harbor works, and has handled a number of important contracts in Great Britain, having constructed sections of the Great Central Railway into London.

Before the war the company held Welland Canal contracts in Canada. Mr. Hall to-day related an interesting incident in connection with the recent removal of his company's offices from Queen Anne's Gate to Victoria Street in London.

Employment of the firm during the removal operations, unearthed plans of fortifications for Plymouth Harbor in the fifties, at the time of the Crimean War. Britain, from the importance of the fortifications constructed, evidently feared enemy attack in home waters.

Mr. Hall is dividing his time between Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle and Portland. He looks for his firm to get into the construction business in this section of the northwest.

Severe Sentences Ordered to Check Careless Driving

Because of the increasing number of motor accidents in British Columbia to hit hard those guilty of carelessness in the handling of motor cars have been sentenced, Attorney-General Pooley announces.

He pointed out that under the Motor Act licenses could be cancelled indefinitely and he said he himself had taken action to put several drivers off the road for periods of four to five years. Magistrates, he said, had power to suspend licenses and upon revision by the province these licenses could be cancelled for long periods. The provincial government, through the B.C. Police, had taken steps to discourage careless driving and he urged it as the duty of municipalities to see that the act was lived up to, threatening those where the municipalities failed to do this the province proposed to step in and would charge the bill to the municipality.

"Where drivers and not pedestrians are found to be blameable, examples should be made of such drivers to bring home to the motoring public that carelessness will not be tolerated," he said.

Eight Doors Fail To Stop Police Raid

Police squads who raided a Chinese gambling house above 540-550 Pignard Street, yesterday evening, had to force a way through eight doors before they reached their goal, Inspector John T. Boulton said in City Police Court this morning when thirty-two Orientals taken in the place were fined $5 each on a charge of being inmates.

The usual gambling paraphernalia, both for fan tan and lottery were found by the police after four strong doors had been forced open.

T. M. Miller, who entered a plea of guilty on behalf of the accused, asked for a reduction of the fine from the $5 level recently imposed, stating business depression had affected the Chinese, most of whom were only in the place to keep warm.

The magistrates imposed a $5 fine, however, ordering the seized materials confiscated.

"We would like the magistrates," said Mr. Miller, referring to the hammer for punishing lottery tickets. "Those things come here too often and this time they are going to stay," the magistrate said.

Higher Prices On Wheat Market With Brisk Export Trade

Winnipeg, Oct. 29.—Prices again ascended on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day with the close showing increases in value from 1/2 to 1 1/4. October closed 1 1/4 higher at 63 1/2; November 1 1/4 at 63 1/2; December 1 1/4 at 63 1/2 and 63 1/2; May 1/2 at 66 1/2 to 67.

Active export trade did much to boost prices and also absorbed liberal offerings from houses with Chicago connections. Subsequent profit-taking had little effect on the market and prices forged slowly upward. The market was unusually active and a heavy volume of wheat handled. Exports to-day at nearly 2,000,000 bushels, comprised mostly of Canadian wheat. A strong demand for durum resulted in spreads of 1/2 cent to 1 1/2, better than yesterday. Top grades of red spring wheat also were in demand. High-grade barley came in for overnight export and featured trading in the coarse grains to-day.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan &amp; Bryan)

Winnipeg, Oct. 29.—Wheat: The wheat market was active with a broad trade passing and new high marks were again made for the season with prices climbing about 2c above the previous close. Highest levels being reached in the late trade. There was excellent buying by New York interests throughout the day. While offerings were heavy they were well taken with only a few minor setbacks. At the start the local crowd appeared to be somewhat nervous and were selling, while there was also some selling by Chicago and from line elevators but the market did not weaken. The lows for the day being at last night's close, gradually creeping up and working through the daily offerings. New York reported a big business in export circles with estimated sales running from 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 bushels. Manitoba and hard winters this is the largest one overnight business in a long time.

In the cash market there was a good continued demand for the Durum and spreads on the top grades were half to 1 1/2 better with little being offered for sale. There was also a fair demand for the top spring grades and spreads on these were better. However, offerings were very light and only a small volume was changing hands. Chicago market was drabgy most of the day but did firm up later. There was no change reported in the flour situation. Country marketings in the west yesterday were 2,454,000 bushels of wheat, at against 1,488,000 a year ago. Buenos Aires at mid-day was 1/2 to 1/4 higher.

Winnipeg futures closed 1/4 to 1 1/2 higher, while Chicago closed 1/2 to 1/4 lower, both markets easing off near the finish on profit-taking.

Gems of Peril

by HAZEL ROSS HAILEY

"You did look kinda dithery. Don't know what dithery is? Well, no matter. Bigger things on foot." Turning serious abruptly, he lowered his voice discreetly. "Listen. Remember when your brother was hurt, his talking about a fly?"

Mary nodded.

"Well, it kinda stuck in my mind. Think I'll fix myself out to the race-track some sunny afternoon and nose around. You know what? There's a race-track gambler hanging around Jamaica that everybody calls 'The Fly'."

"Do you suppose it could be?"

He threw out his hands and shrugged. "I haven't found anybody yet that's seen him with your brother. But they all know Eddie down there. Sooner or later I'll find out what the tie-up was. Anyhow, it's a tip."

"Did you see him?"

"No, and that's a funny thing. Nobody's seen him for a couple of weeks."

Mary calculated rapidly. "It was two weeks ago to-morrow night—"

Bowen nodded. "Correct."

Excitement kindled flames in the girl's cheeks and brought stars to her eyes.

"Oh, if it should be—"

She grasped both his hands with her own and gave them a glad squeeze. "If you help me to clear up all this trouble, I'll—I'll—I don't know what I'll do."

"Hold it, hold it!" cried the other. "I've got a weak heart. Besides, we haven't got to first base yet in the matter of evidence."

"But we will! Oh, I knew all along there was something back of this." Her face clouded again at the recollection of her recent interview with Kane. "Maybe he'll do something about it now!"

Bowen observed her bitterness, and guessed its cause.

"Listen," he told her sternly. "All I ask is—don't say a word about this to Kane."

Curiosity prompted her to ask his reason.

"Well, more than one reason." They drew back while the murderous-looking waiter served their food—huge plates heaped with steaming spaghetti and meat balls. Bowen jerked a thumb after the waiter's retreating back.

"Two years out of Sing Sing—him. He's got to stay where the police can keep an eye on him, or go back to stir. Good guy. He wouldn't cut your throat for less than a dime."

As Mary surveyed her plate distrustfully, he added "Go ahead. Eat your lunch. Poison's not his line."

But as I was saying, if we find the guy that killed your brother, I want the story—I don't want the other papers to get it. And another reason is, if the Fly is the man I think he is, it'll take more than Pretty Jim Kane to bring him in."

CHAPTER XIII

Mary gave her promise readily enough. She was thoroughly angry at Kane anyhow, and grateful to Bowen. Apparently he was the only person besides herself who cared to dig up the truth about her brother's death. Even if his interest was partly selfish, she was grateful to him just the same, in the present state of her feelings. If he did not want Kane to know what he was doing, she would gladly comply.

Bowen seemed pleased by her trust in him, and his eyes began to glitter with the seal of the newshound hot on the trail.

"I think we are on the track of something," he told her, "but let me tell you this, my dear girl, before we go any further—if we don't keep our mouths pretty tight shut, we take a chance of getting what Eddie got. If we go after this guy to win, we've got to play a cage game. How's your nerve?"

"I don't know," Mary faltered. "I never tried anything like this before."

"Well, we'll have plenty of that later," Bowen brushed it away, sorry for having aroused her fears. That might be a tactical error. Better leave her in ignorance of the danger, perhaps, or she might weaken and spoil the whole show.

"What I want to find out now is—"

He broke off as the fearsome-looking waiter came to take their plates away. Bowen sat thoughtfully turning a salt-cellar in his fingers.

"Mike," he said, suddenly, "sit down a minute, will you?"

With an apprehensive glance toward the kitchen, Mike sat down bonelessly on the edge of the chair.

Mary became aware of a stale and unpleasant odor as of yesterday's food caught in the folds of his greasy black coat, and radiating from him like an aura. But she did not flinch. If she were going to play Bowen's game she must not show the white feather merely because a waiter neglected to wash.

"Look here, Mike," Bowen lowered his voice. "I want to get the lowdown on a crook known as The Fly. Ever hear of him?"

Mike thought, then shook his head. "You can talk in front of this lady, she's O.K.," Bowen reassured him.

"We've got a little private vendetta on this lady and I want you to help me out. We're going out after this bird ourselves. That is, if he's still around town. That's where we want you to help us."

The waiter's expression remained inscrutable. Mary thought his eyes held a gleam of interest as he looked her over carefully, but she could not be sure. No doubt he had plenty of reason to hate the pompous inspector, and it was clear that he and Bowen were on a friendly footing.

"I think maybe—how's dead," he offered after a bit.

"Oh, long time. Maybe ten years," the waiter explained.

"Oh," Bowen snorted. "Not this guy! He was very much alive no longer than two weeks ago. Where did you know him? Sure you got the name right?"

He looked about vainly for a specimen for the species by way of illustration. Finding none, he gave an imitation of a soaring insect, ending with a fatal smacking of his palms together.

Mike giggled appreciatively. "Sure, sure!" he said.

"Where did you know him, up in the Big House?"

Mike shook his head. "You know him if you saw him? Would he know you?"

"Maybe, I dunno."

"What was his name? Do you remember?"

Mike considered.

"I forgot. His name The Fly. That's all I know."

"What was he up for, housebreaking, or what?"

Here the waiter's phlegmatic manner broke and he became excited.

"You better lay off that guy, he is a tough egg!" he warned.

"Ever-kill anybody?" Bowen asked quietly.

"Plenty. They not catch him for it. He is smart guy. Good lawyer, lotta dough. Yeah!"

A depressed silence held his two hearers. Encouraged, Mike continued to build up the man's reputation. Though his tone was one of deep scorn, his admiration was plain. It was the humble craftsman praising the artist.

"They pull him in two, three times the District Attorney go for him. They get nothing on him. They can't hold him. Always he goes free! Ah, he is a bad guy, that one! Yeah!"

Bowen stirred, stretched, yawned, gave every evidence of dismissing the subject. Following his lead, Mary withdrew her fascinated gaze from the waiter's sombre countenance, which had gleamed for a few scant moments with genuine emotion and made preparations to go. Mike jumped up.

"Oh, by the way," Bowen called. "You remember what you were talking to me about the other day, Mike? Well, I've got it all fixed for you. Give you a letter in a day or two, and you take it up to Shay and he'll fix you up. Nice place, that 'speak' of his. Got this dump beat a mile."

The waiter's face crinkled with pleasure.

He bowed rapidly from the waist.

"Yeah? Yeah? Good boy! You come up and see me when I am up there." He included Mary in his nod of invitation. Mary smiled. How changed he was, when he was like this, from the gloomy, suspicious man he had seemed at first.

Did it matter so much to him, then, just a job in another speakeasy? She judged this was what Bowen had arranged for him.

Bowen laid his change on the bill, and handed it to Mike, who refused it handsomely. Bowen insisted.

"I'll tell you what you can do for me, if that's the way you feel," he said. "Keep your ears open up at Shay's—you're liable to hear something. Shay's is The Fly's old stamping ground, I hear. If he's still in town you'll see him around there, up near his hiding out. All I want you to do is tip me off if you see him. I want to get a look at him sometime."

Mike showed signs of distress.

"You bring the cops!" he asked fearfully.

"No, no, no! Mike, have I ever pulled a fast one on you? Well, you can trust me. You know that."

Mike said "Sure, sure," and appeared reassured. He looked curiously at Mary. "What he do?" he asked interestedly.

Bowen looked solemnly at Mary.

"He did this lady a very great wrong," he said impressively. The strange little man's eyes rested on her, glittering with interest. Mary felt her cheeks grow warm. What was he thinking, anyhow? Then she reflected that it was probably better to let him draw what inference he would than tell him too much about her affairs.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Steamboat

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Throughout Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow sounded a noise of shouts, yells, laughter, hoots, whistles, screams, toots and cheers. The rabbit gentleman and his wife had just been looking out at a very hard rain storm and Mr. Longears had just said he would not let the rabbit children go to school. His wife showed that she was much worried at having a bungalow full of noisy little rabbit children kept indoors all through a rainy day when these sudden sounds startled them both.

"What is it? What can it be? What is that racket?" murmured the lady rabbit.

"I can't imagine," Uncle Wiggily answered, and his pink nose did not twinkle quite as fast as before. "I hope," he went on, "that none of the Bad Chaps have broken in, this rainy day, and are teasing our little rabbits."

"Oh, that's just what it is!" his wife said. "It must be the Fox, the Wolf or the Bob Cat after our little ones who can't get out to go to school because of the rain."

"What is it? What can it be? What is that racket?" murmured the lady rabbit.

"I can't imagine," Uncle Wiggily answered, and his pink nose did not twinkle quite as fast as before. "I hope," he went on, "that none of the Bad Chaps have broken in, this rainy day, and are teasing our little rabbits."

LAMONT URGES GERMAN-FRENCH READJUSTMENT

Associated Press

New York, Oct. 29.—Thomas W. Lamont of the firm of J. P. Morgan and Company, writing in The Saturday Review of Literature to-day, called on Germany to take the initiative for a direct readjustment with France on the reparations problem.

It is not now a matter for this country to urge, said Mr. Lamont, who was a member of the committee of experts which drew up the Young Plan. The Germans, he said, should not expect President Hoover to save the situation for them.

The financier advised Germany to stop agitating for revision of the Versailles Treaty, expressing the opinion the French would be found to be not "unreasonable" concerning any revision that might be justified provided it came about through "orderly processes."

People of this country, he said, could not be expected to continue lending money to Germany to pay reparations. Some settlement on a realistic basis, he thought, had now become essential.

"Neither Germany, France nor any other country should gain the idea," he wrote, "that President Hoover, having undertaken his one-year debt holiday to meet an immediate emergency, is necessarily called on to make the next move."

OUT OUR WAY—

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am contemplating going to another city husband-hunting. I am twenty-seven years of age and so far have not had an opportunity to marry. There are a few nice men I have known all my life who seem to enjoy my company and are friends of long standing, but they do not propose marriage. Tell me, Dorothy Dix, would you, if you saw no prospect of marriage, leave your good job and comfortable home and go to a strange city in the hope of annexing a Mrs. to your name? Personally, I do not feel that I would be unhappy were I to remain unmarried, but I do feel that my life would be incomplete.—G.S.

Answer—I suppose the life of every man or woman is incomplete who does not marry and have children, but it is a beautiful fragment compared to what a life is if they marry just to be a-marrying and rush to the altar with any man who comes along.

Marriage can be either an earthly paradise or a hell on earth, and it is the latter, and then some, if you get an uncongenial or an unsuitable mate, or one whom you do not deeply and truly love. No bachelor is so wretched as the man who is married to a shrew or a nag or a woman who wastes and spends all he makes so that he sees his whole life work going for nothing. No old maid is so miserable as the wife who listens at night for the drag of drunken footsteps, whose husband insults her with his infidelities or who is married to a man who drags her and her children down into the depths of poverty.

It is a curious thing that, although every woman sees all about her other women whose marriages have spelled disaster to them—women who are married to drunkards and philanderers and loafers—it apparently never occurs to her that she could possibly meet with the same fate. She is perfectly certain that she will draw Prince Charming out of the matrimonial grab-bag and that her husband will be good and kind and true to her and a grand provider. And so she talks about her life being incomplete without marriage, which certainly shows that most unmarried woman's middle name is Pollyanna and that Heaven has bestowed upon them optimistic natures.

So that's that. But if you are bent and determined on acquiring one of those doubtful blessings and are all set to go husband-hunting, you are wise in striking out into new fields, since you have beat the home preserves and have not even scared up any game. Only, for pity's sake, don't throw up your job and start out on your adventure just now when times are bad and situations are hard to find and every eligible male has taken to cover.

Under normal conditions it is a wise move for the girl who wishes to marry and who is not snapped up by one of the home boys to go abroad in search of a husband.

There are many good reasons for this. One is that often maidens, like prophets, are without honor in their own country. The men they know have seen them for so many years at such close range that they have lost perspective on them and have ceased to note how good-looking, how intelligent, how altogether charming and desirable they are. Very often they don't even notice that Mary Smith has grown up from a freckle-faced, long-legged, gangly school girl into a tearing beauty, or that Sally Jones has developed into the sort of young woman who is the life of every party and of whose society one never tires.

Worst of all, men acquire that brotherly feeling toward girls. And this is fatal. Without knowing it, they get to depending on Mary Smith or Sally Jones for companionship, for sympathy, for understanding, for amusement, but they never pop the question, for why should they, when they can monopolize Mary Smith or Sally Jones without having to marry her or pay her bills?

And the home girl lacks novelty, which, after all, is the thing men crave most. And that is why Mary Smith and Sally Jones so often have to go away from home to find husbands and why the home boys marry girls who were strangers to them.

Also, it is true that if the home boy is really in love with Mary Smith or Sally Jones the best way she can wake him up to the fact is by going away and letting him miss her. When he has nobody to go to with his troubles or his triumphs, nobody to pal up with, he realizes the value of what he has lost and goes after it. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Do you believe with me that the man of to-day is as chivalrous as he ever was? My friends say chivalry is dead, but a man who has loved me for ten years will not tell me so because he has been unfortunate in business and has not enough money to marry. I have enough money for us both, but he will not marry on that platform. Is not his idealism the same as the well-known old-time chivalry? Do you not think that he should tell me he loves me even if we do not marry? It would be something to me to have him tell me that he loves me. A LADY.

Answer—I think the modern man is the most chivalrous man who has ever existed in the world's history, because he is the first man who has ever given a woman a square deal and he has protected her even against himself. Men of the past would have set women free. They have opened every door of opportunity to them. They have secured their own property to them. And that is a million times bigger proof of chivalry than giving them a seat in a street car. Maybe men don't pick up ladies' handkerchiefs as much as they used to, but they don't pick their pockets either, as they did in the good old chivalrous days when a husband grabbed every cent his wife had on the day he married her.

I think your sweetheart is doing a wrong and foolish thing in letting a little money keep you apart. He would share what he had with you. Why can't he realize that you are as generous as he is and want to share what you have with him? When a man will accept the gift of a woman's whole life, why should he hesitate to take a few dollars?

And, anyway, he should give you the pleasure of knowing that he loves you. That will be poor food on which to feed your hungry heart, but it is better than nothing. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My husband insists on having his niece, who is a girl about my own age, live with us, although she has a home and family of her own, but she doesn't want to live in the small town where they live. I do not want a third person in our home, and I think a wife should guard against relatives coming in when it isn't a case of necessity. My husband is twenty years older than I am and we have almost come to the parting of the ways over this question. What do you think? DISGUSTED WIFE.

Answer—I think you are right and that no third person should ever be introduced into a home unless it is a case of absolute necessity. DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Ray's Corner

The Indians' Corn Crop

"We thank He-no for rain! We thank the moon and stars which give us light when the sun has gone to rest. We thank the sun for warmth and light by day. We thank thee that thou hast made our corn grow. Everything thou doest is for our happiness."

Those words, according to Professor Comstock, are the translation of part of a prayer which Iroquois Indians uttered in harvest time. The red folk were praying to Ha-wen-ni-yu, a god who was supposed to watch over the corn crop.

Indians of the western plains did not depend on corn for their living. They were busy killing buffaloes and other animals. Some of the prairie tribes seldom, if ever, paused long enough to grow a crop of corn even if they had wanted to do so. They were on the move during the open season—following buffalo herds.

In other parts of North America, however, the story was different. In some sections the Indians could not have lived through the winter if they had not saved the corn from the autumn harvest.

When John Smith and his comrades came to Virginia, they found that the natives raised a great deal of corn. If the English settlers had not received gifts of corn from the Indians, it is doubtful that they could have lived through the first winter.

Indians who lived in forest regions learned to raise corn without cutting down trees to permit sunlight to reach the crop. Cutting down a tree was a hard task for Indians, whose axes were crude. The Indians killed the trees. Sometimes this was done by cutting circles in the bark, around the trunks.

Another method of killing the trees was to dig to the roots and light fires in the holes. Leaves fell away from the dead trees, and did not return.

Thus corn planted between the trees received enough sunlight. Maize, or Indian corn, was not known in Europe before white men reached the New World. It is now one of the leading crops of the United States.

When full grown corn stalks are usually from five to eight feet high; but now and then they reach a height as great as twenty feet.
